"BE A WOMAN."

There is so much that is appropriately suggested in the following lines, that we cannot resist the temptation to insert them. Although some of our fair friends may turn up their dainty noses in derision, there are many, and by far the larger portion, who will thank us for them:

Oft I've heard a gentle mother,
As the twilight hours began,
Pleading with a son on duty,
Urging him to be a man.
But unto her blue-eyed daughter,
Though with love's words quite as ready,
Points she out the other duty,
"Strive, my dear, to be a lady!"

What's a lady? Is it something
Made of hoops, and silks, and airs,
Used to decorate the parlor,
Like the fancy rugs and chairs?
Is it one that wastes on novels
Every feeling that is human?
If 'tis this to be a lady,
'Tis not this to be a woman.

Mother, then, unto your daughter
Speak of something higher far
Than to be mere fashion's lady—
"Woman" is the brightest star.
If ye, in your strong affection,
Urge your son to be a true man,
Urge your daughter no less strongly
To rise up and be a woman.

Yes, a woman—brightest model
Of that light and perfect beauty;
There the mind, and soul, and body,
Blend to work out life's great duty—
Be a woman—naught is higher
On the gilded list of fame;
On the catalogue of virtue
There's no brighter, holier name.

Be a woman—on to duty,
Raise the world from all that's low,
Place high in the social heaven
Virtue's fair and radiant bow!
Lend thy influence to each effort
That shall raise our nature human;
Be not fashion's gilded lady,
Be a brave, true, whole-souled woman.

Miscellaneous.

Who Offers?

I am just twenty, but will not marry before I am two years older. I am a graduate of Marietta Seminary. I can do, and love to do, all manner of house-work, from making pies and bread to washing shirts; I can do all kinds of sewing, from embroidery to linsey pantaloons; I can skate, ride, sing, play on the piano or spinning-wheel, or anything that may reasonably be expected of my sex. If required I can act the part of a dunce in the society of the "upper ten," or the part of a woman among women. As for riding, here allow me to make a boaster: any man may bring two horses, give me choice and ten feet, and then if he overtakes me in one mile I am his; if not, the horse is mine. Beware.

I am a believer in hydropathy, and use no tea or coffee, neither do I wear corsets; but I am willing that my husband shall do either, if he desires. I believe in "woman's rights," but believe I have no right to meddle with politics, or men's business in general—neither have the men a right to meddle with ours. As for appearance, I am neither tall nor short; large nor small, but I am just as I was made. I have never attempted to alter my shape or color, as I am perfectly satisfied with the same. By fops I am styled handsome, by the young men on whom I please to smile, I am styled the height of perfection; by those I frown upon, "the devil's imp;" by the wise and sober I am called wild and foolish; by my female acquaintances, "Molly," and by my uncle, "Tom."

If I marry, it will be a man who uses no spirits, tobacco or profanity. He may be young or old, handsome or homely, rich or poor, but not in the extreme. He must have a good common education at least. He must be industrious; he must be capable of bearing himself in society, that he will be beloved by all; his disposition on after acquaintance must please in every respect. He, after marriage, must allow me to follow the dictates of my own conscience, provided I do not trample on his rights, and he must follow suit.

A Church Seized with a Billious Attack.

Last Sabbath was Quarterly Meeting in the M. E. Church, and, as usual on such occasions, the Sacrament was administered. After the meeting adjourned, the members went their several ways, some to dine with friends in town, some to their homes in the country. In about an hour the doctors were in requisition in every direction; the whole membership was seized with a simultaneous "billious attack," and the demand for remedial agents was general. The first smell of the sumptuous dinners prepared provoked sudden and involuntary eructation on the part of all the orthodox members of the respective families. The venerable Peter Cartwright, Presiding Elder, for whom preparations had, of course, been made, retired from the prospect as dinner came on, a little bent over, with both hands placed below the vest buttons, declaring that "he didn't feel like eating." One brother is said to have made for his house, half bent, and with a groan, tumbled on to the bed, and in reply to his wife's "What's the matter?" exclaimed in a despairing tone, "Oh, I've got the cholera." The epidemic spread all through the country, exciting considerable alarm, and occasioning a general casting up of accounts. But the panic subsided when it was ascertained that antimonial wine had been, by mistake, administered to the whole body of communicants? We understand that "Uncle Peter" said "it was the first time he ever knew an attempt to vomit the devil out of the church." Although it was a serious matter, the sinners, owing to the hardness of their hearts, did laugh.—Winchester (Ill.) Chronicle, July 16.

☞What is fame? What is fortune?—Nicholas Longworth, the "Crœsus" of Cincinnati, worth in money from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, while sitting the other day, on the steps of a drinking-house, with his hat between his knees, waiting for a friend, was the recipient of twenty-five cents from a passing gentleman, who mistook him for a beggar!

☞An Irish jockey once selling a nag to a gentleman frequently observed with emphatic earnestness, that he was an honest horse.—After the purchase the gentleman asked him what he meant by an honest horse. "Why, sir," replied the seller, "whenever I rode him he always threatened to throw me, and he certainly never deceived me."

☞A writer in All the Year Round describes gout thus: "Put your toe in a vice; turn the screw till you can bear the pain no longer—that's rheumatism. Give the screw one more turn—that's gout."

☞Why is a handsome girl like an excellent mirror? Ans.—Because she is a good looking-(g)lass.

My First Visit to New York.

Having come to a good understanding about breakfast, bills of fare, and things in general about the Astor, said Mr. Philikins, I told the clerk I wanted to see Broadway, and asked him to tell me where I should go to look for it.

"Right in front of the Hotel," says he.

"Why," says I, "you don't mean to say that narrow street out there in front of the house is Broadway, do you?"

"I do," says he.

"Well," says I, "then suppose it is, and all I have to say is, I'm disappointed. I expected to find Broadway a wide street, which it would take a spy-glass to look across; but this is nothing; I've seen wider streets than these in Chicago."

The clerk said he was sorry Broadway did not suit me, and hoped I wouldn't let my opinions get out, as it might make the inhabitants feel bad. He said if I would keep still, he'd speak to the Mayor at the first opportunity. I promised secrecy, shook hands with him, and set out to see what could be seen.

As I went down the front steps inside, I met a gentleman and bowed to him, as we always do to strangers, where I live; but he took no notice of me at all. Thinks I you're an ill-bred fellow, anyhow, with all your clothes. At the foot of the stairs I met another man and bowed to him. He gave me a saucy stare and passed on. Well, says I to myself, if that is the game here in New York, I can play at it with the best of you; and I resolved not to bow to another soul unless I was bowed to first.

I sauntered along down Broadway, looking at the signs and shop windows, when suddenly a chap driving an omnibus beckoned to me. Hello, thinks I, here's an old acquaintance, but on looking at him closely I didn't recognize him.

He kept motioning to me, however, and looking at me for a long time. I hadn't gone a rod before another chap motioned to me, and then another, who was driving down street, beckoned to me, too. I thought some of them must know me and so I went up to one to see what it meant.

As he saw me coming he pulled up his horses, and says I, Well, neighbor, how are you? Where have we seen each other before?

"Ride up?" says he.

"How?" says I.

"Ride up?" says he, "right away, up Broadway?"

"No," says I, "I don't want to ride up Broadway; I'm going t'other way."

"What did you stop the 'bus for, then?" said he.

"I didn't stop it: you stopped it yourself, I replied; and what's more, you stopped me, too. You beckoned to me, and I thought you knew me, or wanted to say something."

"You're a precious green one," said he; and all the folks inside the omnibus laughed as he drove off.

I kept on down the street till I came to a fire plug, on which I set down to rest and look around.

The people came along in such crowds from the church with a tall steeple (Trinity) that I thought perhaps they had just had a meeting down there, and that the people were going home to breakfast; so I'd wait till they got past.

But they kept coming thicker and thicker; so thinks I they have a revival down at the church, and I'll go down and see how they are getting along, and give them some real Kentucky revival hymns, on the regular hallelujah order.

So I went along down. Before I got to the church, I saw a chap standing on the sidewalk with a stick on his shoulder; on the top of it was a big board; on this board was written, in big black letters,

"STRANGERS, BEWARE OF MOCK AUCTIONS!"

Thinks I, what is a Mock Auction? This is something new; I must look into it; and in my curiosity to penetrate the mysteries of a Mock Auction, I forgot the revival at the big church.

I walked up to the house before which the chap with the big board was standing, and looked in.

A young man was selling all sorts of valuable articles. Right next door another man was selling things too; and it occurred to me that he had got that chap with the big board to stand before the first man's door so as to injure his business. This struck me as being real mean my sympathies were touched; my Kentucky grit began to ferment, and I determined to patronize the injured party; for you know a Kentuckian always goes in for fair play, and no favors asked.

While I stood thinking over the matter, the man who was selling watches, (the "injured party") happened to see me, and immediately bowed to me in a very polite manner. That was the first bow I'd received in New York, and it had upon me a most gratifying effect. Says I to myself, I've found a gentleman at last who is no upstart, who understands the usages of polite society. I returned his bow, and he then politely asked me to walk in, which I did.

Just as I stepped in, he bid off a handsome gold watch for $15. Bless my soul, thinks I, what a fool I was, not to bid on that! I might then have a nice gold watch to take home to my wife, and how proud she would have been!

So, says I, neighbor, have you any more of them?

"Yes, sir," he answered, "here's a splendid gold watch and chain, left for sale by a young gentleman from Cuba, who is out of money, and must sell at some price. I hope gentlemen will bid liberally, for the gentleman is very worthy and in great need."

The folks began to bid. "Three dollars," says one, "five dollars," says another. Thinks I, that's darned mean to take advantage of a poor fellow that way; so says I, "eighteen dollars." I suppose that rather frightened the company, for after that nobody else bid a cent, and the watch was knocked down to me. The man who sold it then went to the other end of the counter, telling me to pay the money to another man who was sitting at the desk with a big account book open before him. I paid the money, and then went to the other end of the room for my watch. When the auctioneer handed it to me, it didn't look like the one that I bid for, and on examining it closely, I saw it was nothing but copper! So says I—

"See here, stranger, this watch is nothing but copper, and I bought a gold watch."

"I didn't warrant it gold," said he.

"Well, I don't care what you warranted it for; you sold it for a gold watch, and it isn't gold; so just give me back my money."

"I have no authority to return money to any one, else I should be happy to accommodate you; you must speak to the cashier, to whom you paid your money."

I then asked the cashier for my money, but he said he had no authority to return or pay out money either. I asked him who had authority then to give me back my money. He said no one in the establishment had authority to pay out money under any circumstances. Said I, you all seem ready enough to take in money, and it's odd enough none of you can pay it out. He replied, that according to the rules of the establishment any one connected with it could receive money, but no one could pay it out; and these rules, he said, were always strictly enforced. Well, said I, you're a darned pretty set; I never heard of such a system before; I shant stand it. The fact is, my Kentucky dander ris just about this time, and I determined to whip the rascal, if he did not give me back my money; but before I could get to him, a chap, who said he was a policeman, told me confidentially that if I made a disturbance, he should be obliged to take me to the Tombs. This put a damper on my combativeness, for I heard horrid stories about the Tombs, and wouldn't have gone there for a dozen watches. So I thought I'd coax him to give me back my money, but he wouldn't listen to me at all.

I looked at the watch. It was just about the meanest looking thing that ever ticked; and thinks I, shall I give such a thing to my wife? I couldn't stand the thought. What! take a copper watch home as a present to my wife? to the mother of my children? I just took the thing by the chain, and says I—

"See here, do you suppose I'll take such a watch home to my wife? No, sir. Now, if you don't give me back my money, I'll take it out on the sidewalk and dash it into a thousand pieces!"

"Oh!" says he, "it was a lady's watch you wanted, was it? Why, then, didn't you say so before? We can sell you a splendid married lady's watch—just the thing for your wife, and I will give you a written guarantee of its genuineness; there will be no cheat about the watch."

"Well," I replied, "but what shall I do with the $18 I've fooled away on this copper thing?"

"Oh, that shall count on the other. I'll take the copper watch back."

Well, thinks I, I'll save my $18 any how, so I took hold of the one he showed me and examined it carefully. While I was inspecting it I heard a gentleman behind me say, in a whisper to a friend, "Isn't that a splendid watch! it's worth at least $150; I wish I had my purse with me, so I could buy it; I'd have it, sure." Thinks I, that gentleman knows all about it, so there's no danger. I'll get it and no cheat.

We began to bid, and every one seemed to want the watch, for they all bid freely. It ran up to $118, and I got it. Now thinks I, here's a present fit for a wife; won't she be proud? I handed over the copper watch and $100, and left.

The next day I thought I'd ask a jeweler what my watch was worth, and don't you believe that turned out to be a copper one, too? I started to the Mock Auction store at once, but I couldn't find it. It was changed into a cigar store.

That was what I got by not going to that revival meeting, as I ought to have done.

There's Your Pig.

"Patrick, the widow Molony tells me that you have stolen one of her finest pigs. Is that so?"

"Yes, yer honor!"

"What have you done with it?"

"Killed it and ate it, yer honor!"

"Oh, Patrick! Patrick! when you are brought face to face with the widow and her pig on Judgment day, what account will you be able to give for yourself, when the widow accuses you for the theft?"

"Did you say the pig would be there, your riverence?"

"To be sure I did!"

"Well, then, your riverence, I'll say Mrs. Molony, there's your pig!"

Worth Knowing.

A Philadelphia paper states that a young lady of that city, while in the country, stepped on a rusty nail, which ran through her shoe into her foot. The inflammation and pain were great, and lock jaw was apprehended. A friend of the family recommended the application of a beet, taken from the garden and pounded fine, to the wound. It was done, and the effect was very beneficial. Soon the inflammation began to subside, and by keeping on the fresh beet, and changing it for a fresh one as its virtue seemed to become impaired, a speedy cure was effected. Simple and effectual remedies like this should be known to every one.

In a Pretty Fix.—A lady and gentleman in this vicinity, chancing to be bathing au naturel, but unseen by each other, being separated by a ledge of rocks, a mischievious boy exchanged one pile of clothing for the other.—Their perplexity and embarrassment on emerging from the water may be better imagined than described; but, seeing no other alternative, the lady donned the male and the gentleman the female apparel, hoops and "everything," and made their way to their homes in that guise.—New Haven News.

☞They speak of a man in Maine who is strong enough to lift a barrel of pork with his teeth. This is not remarkable. We know a man—an aged one, too— who has lifted several barrels of pork with his teeth.

We know a more remarkable person than either of them. He is of unbounded stomach —has been known to swallow one hundred and sixty acres of land, with all the improvements, four three story brick houses and a good-sized country tavern—principally in bad whiskey.

☞A letter writer says:—"In Amsterdam I saw a queer looking fellow walking around dressed in black, with a cocked hat on his head, from which crape dangled to his heels with short breeches, knee buckles and black stockings, and a short black coat, from the collar of which another roll of crape hung down to the ground. Upon inquiry, I discovered that he was a death announcer."

☞Old Guzzle says if he could have his choice of three things, he should choose first, plenty of tobacco, secondly, a good stock of rum, thirdly, he should choose some more rum.

☞Rufus Choate, the son of the late Rufus Choate, is described as the "worthy successor" of his distinguished sire. He graduated with honor at Amherst College in 1855, and was admitted to the bar about a year since.—His age is about 25.

☞At Oskaloosa, Iowa, a young woman whose husband came home drunk the other day, took down the ox goad, and chastised him most gloriously—until he promised not to do so again. He laid the blame upon a friend who asked him to drink.—She whaled him again for not having stability to refuse. The next day she learned that it was a female that he had been drinking with at a dance house, when she gave him another lathering, which so affected the poor fellow that he has not been seen in Oskaloosa since.

☞A machine for the manufacture of ice is now in operation in London, which turns out three tons of that commodity daily. The refrigeration is produced by the evaporation of ether in a vacuum.

☞The world is a great tread-mill, which turns all the while, and leaves no choice but to sink or climb.

The Mysterious Piano.

Not long since I was invited to pay a visit to some friends out of town. In the family were three young ladies, besides young children. Being musical, we spent the greater part of the first evening of my visit singing and playing, and, at a proper hour retired for the night, as we supposed. As I was a great favorite with all the girls, each one wanted to sleep with me, and to effect this, it was decided that instead of going to my room, I should remain in their double-bedded room. Accordingly, instead of going to sleep, we lay and talked (as girls often do) some hours.—Milly touched me on the arm in the middle of a most interesting account I was giving her of the opera, and certain regular attendants there, and said:

"C., do you hear that?"

"Hear what? I do not listen to people when they are not talking to me," naturally supposing she referred to Margaret and Fanny, who were in the other bed.

"There! now, girls, don't you hear it? Some one is playing on the piano."

"Who can it be?" said Milly. "Why do you not lock it, Fanny, it is your place to do it."

"Well," said Fanny? "I did, and the key is in the pocket of my dress."

This, of course, we would not believe. So, trembling from head to foot, she got up, dark as it was, found the dress, with the key in its pocket. All this while we heard the piano, sounding in simple scales from top to bottom, vice versa, but producing the most wonderful quality of tones, resembling those of a musical box more than anything else.

We had all heard of spirits, and were quite sure there were some in the house, for it was not probable that any of the children would be up at that hour of the night. So it was decided that we should hold each other by the hand, and go across the hall to the father's room. All this time the scales were being played on the piano, as if some one had been ordered to practice for an hour. We succeeded in awakening Mr. W. and in a few minutes he came out with a light in his hand, when we formed a procession after him with chattering teeth, but withal eager faces, for our curiosity was stronger than our fear. We enter the parlor: sure enough the piano is shut and locked, while the gamut is being played regularly and distinctly. The father asks for the key; all the girls scream out at once:

"Don't open it; it must be spirits."

But Mr. W. does not believe in piano playing spirits and opens the instrument, while we are all huddled together, and he exclaims:

"Gracious me, it's a mouse!"

How we laughed and screamed, and looked for the little animal, but no use, mousey had practised his lesson and gone.

It was easy to account for the evenness of his playing, as he was too small to skip a note, and therefore touched every one.

To make Butter in Five Minutes without a Churn.

A correspondent highly recommends the following recipe:—After straining the milk, set it away for about twelve hours, for the cream to "rise." (Milk dishes ought to have good strong handles to lift them by.) After standing as above, set the milk, without disturbing it, on the stove, let it remain there until you observe the coating of cream on the surface assume a wrinkled appearance, but be careful it does not boil, as should this be the case the cream will mix with the milk and cannot again be collected. Now set it away till quite cold and then skim off the cream, mixed with as little milk as possible. When sufficient cream is collected proceed to make it into butter as follows:—Take a wooden bowl, or any suitable vessel, and having first scalded and then rinsed it with cold spring water, place the cream in it. Now let the operator hold his hand in water as hot as can be borne for a few seconds, then plunge it in cold water for about a minute, and at once commence to agitate the cream by a gentle circular motion. In five minutes, or less, the butter will have come, when, of course, it must be washed and salted according to taste; and our correspondent guarantees that no better butter can be made by the best churn ever invented.

To those who keep only one cow, this method of making butter will be found really valuable; while quite as large a quantity of butter is obtained as by the common mode, the skim-milk is much sweeter and palatable. In summer season it will usually be found necessary to bring the cream out of the cellar (say a quarter of an hour before churning) to take the excessive chill off; in winter place the vessel containing the cream over another containing water to warm it; then continue to agitate the cream until the chill is departed.

Before washing the butter separate all the milk you possibly can, as the latter will be found excellent for tea-cakes. Butter made in this manner will be much firmer, and less oilly in hot weather than when made in the ordinary way.

A Young Woman Murdered in Cold Blood.—Miss Melissa Morris, of Marshall county, Va., was murdered on Saturday week, near an orchard where she had been gathering apples. The supposed murderer is a man named Nathaniel Harten. The supposition is that Harten overtook her where she had sat down upon a log to rest, as the handkerchief which contained the apples was found lying on it. That her person had been outraged before she was murdered was also evident. The murder was committed by the side of the public road from which her body was dragged some twenty or thirty yards by the feet to a small run, in which it was found. The murder was committed by heavy blows of a stone or club about the head and breast. The side of her head was broken and one eye knocked out, besides indications of a number of severe blows upon different parts of her person.

The Smoke of Battle.—Some of the Austrians seem to have been particularly struck at seeing Zouaves come into action with their pipes in their mouths. The German's love for a pipe is of the number of calm delights—a thing to be appreciated when "he beside his cottage door is sitting in the sun"—but a pipe in battle! Innocent German! Incomprehensible Zouave!

Singular Coincidence.—On the ship Pomona, wrecked some time since off the coast of Ireland, Mrs. Paxton and her children were lost. She was coming to this country to meet her husband, who was expected from Calcutta. It has been learned that on the very day of his family's loss he died at Calcutta.

☞A sleepy deacon, who sometimes engaged in popular games, hearing the minister use the words, "shuffle off this mortal coil," started up, rubbed his eyes, and exclaimed, "Hold on! its my deal!"

☞The country will be glad to learn that the Hon. Charles Sumner at last writes that he has recovered his health and feels "happy."

The following article, [illegible] Observer, [illegible] We hope our friends in the country will act upon the suggestions and keep us advised of what is going on in their localities:

Everybody thinks it an easy matter to edit a paper. We are frequently told, by those who are blessed with this idea, what a newspaper should be. One would have it full of the war in Europe; another wants the speeches of this or that [illegible]; a third thinks politics a bore and would have none of it; a fourth would exclude all advertisements, and devote the space to the stories of "Corn-Cobb," and Dr. Robinson, or other writers for the Ledger and the Mercury; a fifth insists that all "love stories" are insufferably stupid; a sixth thinks we do not pay enough attention to local news, and tells us we have never noticed the monster squash or the mammoth cabbage of his neighbor Jenkins—and so on to the end of fault-finder's chapter. Now, we submit that it is impossible to please all these diverse tastes; and as the next best thing, after pleasing everybody, is to please one's self, we try to do that, and trust to luck for the balance. But there is one thing we could do, which would please a vast majority of our readers, and which we would do if we could receive the help necessary. And that is to make our local columns a more perfect transcript of the goings on in the county. But we cannot do that, unless we receive the cordial help of all our friends in the various townships. Matters are occurring every day in different parts of the county that possess a local interest all over it, which, if we could be furnished the particulars, we could dress up for our columns, and thus give an interest heretofore unthought of. It is impossible for us to be everywhere—to be here, in our office, attending to our business, and at the same time taking and editorial observation over each township. But, if some friend in each township, would spend half an hour as occasion may demand in writing us a letter, stating concisely what has occurred in his neighborhood, we would then be able each week to spread the same before our readers. We think we hear several who read this article respond, "But, I am not competent to write for the press," &c., &c. We do not ask you to write for the press—we only want you to write to us whenever anything new occurs in your neighborhood—and out of the information thus furnished we will prepare it for the press. If your neighbor Jones, or Smith, or Brown, breaks his leg, disables himself with his mowing machine, or has his barn, or house, or anything else struck with lightning write us the particulars. If Brown's unruly bull chases Smith's children, and scares them "out of a year's growth," write to us, so that we may "point a moral and adorn a tale" on the necessity of keeping vicious animals secure. If some foolish misanthrope, tired of life, shuffle off this mortal coil without the help of a physician or the benefit of clergy, we want to know it, for of such paragraphs are newspapers made. In short, whatever occurs in your neighborhood, give us the particulars and we'll make a note of it—and thus one of the complaints, alluded to in this article, that too little attention is paid to the local affairs of the county, will be removed. Think of this, friends, and next week, or the week after or any time when the "spirit moves" and the occasion demands, as the fish said to the angler, "drop us a line."

Canine Undertaker.

A gentleman living in Hyannis, Mass., has a dog that has been in the habit of playing with a kitten kept about the house, until a great intimacy had grown up between them. The kitten finally died and was buried in the garden. Another kitten was procured, and that died after a little time, and was buried in the garden. A third kitten was obtained, and the acquaintance of the dog soon became familiar. One day the dog was found in the garden with this kitten, and he had dug a large hole and placed the live kitten in it, and was about proceeding to cover it with earth when he was discovered by his owner.

An Egg Cooked in the Sun.—The thermometer ranged as high as 90 deg. in the shade during a part of yesterday. How high it was in the sun we cannot say, but we ate an egg which had been cooked "hard" in the sun. Said egg was placed upon the roof of our office, and remained exposed to the direct rays of the sun about two hours. When we broke it we found it cooked "hard" for our liking—even the yolk being "hard"—nevertheless we ate it for the novelty of the thing.—Norfolk (Va.) Day Book.

Unpleasant Bed-Fellow.—Mr. John Tyson, residing in the southern part of our borough, a few mornings since found that he had been having a very unpleasant bed-fellow through the night. On rising from the bed, on which he had slept with his child by his side, he discovered a house-snake eighteen inches in length, in the bed between where he had lain and the child. He made short work with the reptile, by removing it from its comfortable quarters and "bruising its head," preferring, if he must sleep "as thick as three in a bed," other company than his snakeship. This is the third snake that has been killed in the same house during this year.—Wrightsville (Ia.) Star.

The Sunday Question in St. Louis.—The Mayor of St. Louis refuses to sign the resolutions of Councils for the submission to a vote of the people of the proposition to close the liquor shops and beer gardens of the city on the Sabbath, and the agitation is becoming more and more intense. On one side the Mayor is denounced, and on the other his firmness is extrolled.

The President of the United States, accompanied by Miss Lane, Mrs. Secretary Thompson, Mrs. Wm. M. Browne, M. Thompson, Esq., Judge Bowlin, and Hon. It is to be hoped that the President's own letter to Mr. McCandless will satisfy the most incredulous of his determination to retire from public affairs at the close of his present term. So long as he is considered a candidate for re-election the motives of his measures will be subjected to misconception and misrepresentation.

The Office-Seekers' Ticket.

The meeting of a score of Know Nothing Black Republican politicians, in this place, on Monday last, does not deserve the name of Convention, in its usual acceptation. So small and dull a political county gathering never was had here before. Quite a number of the townships were not represented at all. Fully one-half of the members of the so-called Convention have been earnest in the "wild hunt after office" ever since Know Nothingism started. Many of them had "the taste" during the existence of the old Whig party, but discovering that they could not look for more from that quarter, they went into the movement designed to wipe out and supersede it, in order that in the new organization they might fare better. They have been unfortunate thus far, and we are sure they will continue to "enjoy the same blessing," their keen appetites to the contrary notwithstanding.

The ticket, as previously arranged by the Star managers and endorsed by the so-called Convention, is composed of—For Assembly, SAMUEL DUNBORAW; Commissioner, JACOB RESSER; Director, CHRISTIAN MUSSELMAN; Auditor, JACOB S. HOLLINGER; Surveyor, JOHN CUNNINGHAM; District Attorney, WM. B. MCCLELLAN; Treasurer, E. G. FAHNESTOCK.

It was for weeks a question among the canvassers, whether Mr. Dorboraw should be risked again, they justly fearing that after all his loud professions in favor of reducing the salary of members of the Legislature, the Journal of the session might exhibit a not very consistent course on his part—and to attempt to deny the correctness of that record they have heretofore discovered to be an uphill business. But as he had already paid for his chance in the race, it was decided that it would be unkind not to let him have it. They do not count upon his success with any degree of confidence, however.

The nomination for Commissioner has surprised the public. How it came to pass that Mr. RESSER, who is little more than a temporary resident of the county, and, though a man of means, is not a tax-payer on a dollar's worth of real estate within its borders, should be chosen over the heads of JAMES MARSHALL, of A., DAVID SHRIVER, and WM. S. GITT, cannot be otherwise regarded than as a marvellous performance. The public will not believe that his assumption of the authorship of the celebrated "Resser Letter" was sufficient to bring about his success, rather than that of either of the other gentlemen named. There must have been some other controlling influence at work. A thoughtful friend at our elbow suggests that a particular intimate of Mr. Resser's, who has adopted the profession of Office, and whom, in the absence of anything else, the Commissioners' Clerkship would suit very well,—and, further, whose advice is taken as gospel by the dark lantern managers here—had a leading hand in the game which resulted in the choice made. Stranger plots have been concocted before—and have failed,—as this will.

Considerable outside interest was manifested in regard to the nomination for the Treasurership. Messrs. HENRY RUPP and JOHN WINEBRENNER, it was, sometime before, generally thought would have the field to themselves, and that the choice would necessarily fall upon one or the other of them. The rank and file of the party seemed so to wish. But it soon became evident that one of the leaders in the managerial department desired it for himself, and, of course, there was no gainsaying him—ungenerous and unjust to the other gentlemen as such a course might be. The nomination of Mr. Fahnestock is, under the circumstances, regarded with decided disfavor by many of the members of his party, as it deserves to be.

We may have occasion to allude to this ticket again. It is a wretchedly bungled affair, and with anything like effort on the part of the Democracy, will be beaten by hundreds. If the Opposition cannot bring out "sage" of better "wind and bottom" than these, they had better save themselves much anxiety, labor and expense, by giving up the field in Adams at once.

☞Among the distinguished visitors at Bedford Springs during the past week we noticed the names of Hon. George Darsie, of Pittsburg; Hon. Levi Kline, of Lebanon, Chairman of the People's State Committee; George T. Thorn, Judge Sharswood, Judge Woodnut, William S. Stewart, and John H. Diehl, of Philadelphia; John W. Killinger, of Lebanon; I. E. Hiester, of Lancaster; George M. Lauman, of Reading; Wm. A. C. Lawrence, of Dauphin; James M. Watson, of Washington; Hon. E. McPherson, of this place, and President Buchanan. We hope they will excuse us for mentioning their names in the same article with J. B. and his body-guard!—Gettysburg Star of 29th ult.

☞No one but "a fool or a knave" could have written the above paragraph. We publish it in order to show the depth of meanness to which the Star can descend when dealing with a political opponent. Just think of it! Begging pardon of George M. Lauman, for instance, or "Hon. E. McPherson," if you please, for "mentioning their names in the same article with" that of the honored and venerable Statesman who fills the Chief Magistracy of this great Republic! Could petty malignity go farther! His name and fame will remain bright upon the pages of our country's history, whilst most, if not all, of those at whose hands the Star asks to be "excused," shall have passed into the deepest obscurity, "unhonored and unsung."

It is gratifying to know that decent men of all parties denounce the Star's article in unmeasured terms. It would likewise be gratifying to know who wrote it.

☞The Know Nothings and Black Republicans of Franklin county nominated their ticket on Tuesday, as follows: Senator, A. K. McClure; Assembly, James R. Brewster; Sheriff, Wm. McGrath; Treasurer, John Stouffer; District Attorney, George Eyster; Commissioner, J. S. Good; Director, David Spencer; Auditor, John Downey; Surveyor, John B. Kauffman; Coroner, Jas. S. King.

☞A. K. McClure, of Chambersburg, who has determined to be the Know Nothing and Black Republican nominee for Senator in this district, has sued the editors and proprietors of the Valley Spirit for libel, their alleged offence being the publication of an article in that paper, charging him with corrupt acts whilst in the Legislature. Prosecutors rarely make anything by such attempts at intimidation, and we much mistake the spirit of the Spirit if the modest Colonel profits any by this investment.

☞The potato rot prevails extensively in Rhode Island. Some farmers have ploughed up whole fields of potatoes for the purpose of replanting.

Disgusted with his Party.

Stephen F. J. Trabue was an Opposition candidate for Congress in the eighth district of Kentucky, and in that capacity made an electioneering tour through the counties composing it. After thus associating with his political friends, and ascertaining their opinions and feelings, he withdrew from the contest in disgust, and joined the Democrats.—In a letter to the voters of the district, he says:

"This opposition party I regard as but a faction, having no measure of public policy—no motive or feeling to actuate them other than hate to Democracy and hope for office—and so I have charged throughout the district—a faction which, if successful, will be powerless for good, and only powerful for evil.—Regarding the Democratic party as the only truly national party of the country, and the only one capable of fighting successfully the many factions of the day, and the black republican party particularly, I believe it to be the duty of all true constitutional national men, in the present and approaching crisis of 1860, to sustain that party. Hence to it my help and support shall accordingly be given. In my canvass throughout the district I endeavored to present my views fully, and which I regard as truly national, involving the best interests of the people of the whole country, as well the naturalized citizen as the native born; and when I find those so recently the loudest in their protestations of adherence to American principles now the most willing to wholly and shamefully abandon them, I resolved to retire from the canvass, leaving those true men who had determined to support me to act as they may deem best for the good of their country."

Estimates and Receipts.

When Secretary CONN submitted his estimate to Congress of the amount of revenue to be derived from the different sources, he was ridiculed most unsparingly. The country was suffering from the effects of the commercial revulsion; and it was argued in Opposition to the Secretary, that it was not possible for trade to revive in time to realize his anticipations. Much to the annoyance of the prophets of evil, the revenue has increased to an extent exceeding the estimates of Mr. CONN. Upon this subject the Constitution has the following:

We give below a statement of the receipts into the treasury from all sources for the three last quarters of the fiscal year just ended.—We also append the amount which was estimated for by the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report to Congress at its last session. When we take into consideration that the estimates were necessarily based upon the commercial condition of the country, just emerging from a wide-spread and disastrous paralysis, and the utter impossibility to foresee when, to what extent, and how rapidly a healthy action would ensue, it presents the most astonishing concurrence between the actual receipts and the estimates upon record. It also exhibits another evidence of the thorough knowledge which the able Secretary of the Treasury possesses in all matters pertaining to the finances—above all others the most important and complicated subject belonging to human government.

Statement of the receipts into the treasury for the last three quarters of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1859—from customs, lands, and miscellaneous sources.

Quarter ending—March 31, 1859	13,779,519 55
Quarter ending—June 30, 1859	15,058,242 73
Aggregate	$38,540,382 09

Amount estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury in his report to Congress at its last session, from the same sources, as indicated above, $38,500,000.

A Fact from History.

The present National Administration has boldly proclaimed the doctrine that when a naturalized citizen visits his native country he goes in the character of an American citizen, and as no other. In order to entitle his original government to punish him for an offence, this must have been committed whilst he was a subject and owed allegiance to that government. The offence must have been complete before his expatriation. This has always been the doctrine maintained by Mr. BUCHANAN. When he was Secretary of State under President POLK, (remarks the York Gazette,) two gentlemen, Messrs. Bergen and Ryan, Irishmen by birth, but naturalized citizens of the United States, were arrested while on a visit to England, for having expressed themselves in this country as warmly sympathizing with the cause of Ireland. This outrageous procedure immediately received the attention of Mr. Buchanan, and in a letter of instructions on the subject to Mr. Bancroft, then our Minister to England, Mr. Buchanan said:—

"Whenever the occasion may require it, you will resist the British doctrine of perpetual allegiance, and maintain the American principle that British native born subjects, after they have been naturalized under our laws, are to all intents and purposes, as much American citizens and entitled to the same degree of protection, as though they had been born in the United States."

Mr. Bancroft, in accordance with these instructions, addressed a letter to Lord Palmerston, denying the right of the British government, under the circumstances, to arrest Messrs. Bergen and Ryan, and the effect of this decided action on the part of our government was the liberation of the two gentlemen from custody.

The Way Things Look.

A friend in a neighboring county, writing to us on business, inquires, in a postscript, "how things politically look in York county."

In answer we will say, that "things" are beginning to work, and look in this region, very much as they always do, when the Opposition are about to get an "all-fired thrashing." To those who expect that a want of organization, or "family jars," will prevent us from wheeling the whole Democratic army into line this fall, we frankly extend the Milesian caution, that "they may expect to be disappointed!"—York Gazette.

☞The President will remain in Cumberland to-night, and will proceed to Bedford to-morrow. He was provided with a special car by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.—Argus.

Of course a Democratic President cannot travel in the same car with ordinary people.—Daily News.

Of course he could and would travel with what the News calls "common people," if it were not for the fact that the officers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company are gentlemen, and respect and honor the highest officer of a great country. "Common people," and all other people, except those who have nothing but the marrow of selfishness in their bones, are disposed to respect the officers of our free country. President Buchanan is a Democrat, and has a thousand times more love for the people—the "common people"—than the Daily News and the Know Nothing party, which would make slaves of foreigners, and refuse liberty to a class of citizens who worship God according to the dictates of their consciences.—Argus.

☞It is remarked, as an evidence of the yet unsettled state of Italy, that since the Spanish war of succession (1701) Austria has lost and regained Lombardy no fewer than twelve times.

Death of the Hon. Richard Rush.

The Washington Constitution of Saturday evening announces the death of the Hon. Richard Rush, at Philadelphia, on Saturday morning, at an advanced age. Mr. Rush was the son of Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Rush was appointed Attorney General by President Madison in 1814, upon the resignation of the Hon. William Pinkney, of Maryland. In 1817 he was appointed minister to England by President Monroe, and he afterwards published a volume of his "Recollections at the Court of St. James." In 1825 he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by John Quincy Adams, and made an elaborate report in favor of a protective tariff. He was afterwards nominated as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the same ticket with Mr. Adams, who was defeated for the Presidency by General Jackson; was afterwards identified with Democratic politics, but we believe never again entered public life.

Mr. Rush married the daughter of Dr. Murry, of Annapolis, and a sister of James Murry, Esq., of Baltimore, through whom he was connected with several prominent families of Maryland.

State Elections.

Elections were held in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and and several other States, last week, of which we give the results as far as received.

Kentucky.—Magoffin, Dem., is elected Governor by from 5,000 to 7,000 majority. The present Governor is Morehead, Know Nothing. The Democrats also elect seven, and probably eight, of the ten members of Congress, with a majority in the Legislature, which will secure a Democratic United States Senator, in the place of J. J. Crittenden, Opposition.

P. S.—The Cincinnati Enquirer has returns for Governor in forty counties of Kentucky, which show a Democratic gain of near 3,000 on the last Presidential election, when Buchanan carried the State by a majority of 7,200.

Alabama.—A. B. Moore, Dem., is re-elected Governor by an immense majority, and the Democrats have elected ALL the Congressmen.

Missouri.—The Democrats have elected a larger number than usual of the officers in St. Louis, but the balance of the State has not been heard from.

No definite returns from Tennessee.

Giving Them Notice.—The editor of the Luzerne Union, talks square up to the Opposition ists and gives them to understand that this fall, in that county, they will "have to encounter the Democratic hosts united, confident and determined, marshalled under the lead of true, earnest, popular and competent candidates—not the Democratic party as last fall, broken and dismayed—not the Democratic party as in '54, betrayed by traitors and conquered by fraud," and I assures them that the Opposition cannot "nominate a candidate who will come within 800 votes of an election."

The Right Way to Talk.—The Somerset Democrat, a paper that was decidedly anti-Lecompton, as long as that question was a living issue, comes up boldly, in a recent number, to the support of the Democratic party and its principles. It says:—"The Democracy of this county are firmly united on all the leading principles of the party. The day for divisions on minor questions has gone by. Forneyism can no more affect the honest men of the party than Black Republicanism or Know Nothingism. Our Union is too valuable, our principles too highly cherished and the people's good too important to be thrown away for a mess of Opposition pottage."

☞One of the hardest contests that has ever been fought in Ohio will take place this fall. Both the contestants are already in the field. The Democrats are arrayed on the side of order, peace, the Union, our free institutions, and the Constitution of the United States, against the Abolitionist and Know Nothing foes who would dismember the confederacy, destroy our freedom, plot against our peace, and under the miserable plea of political expediency bring the people into collision with the supreme authorities of the general Government.

☞A correspondent of the Washington Constitution wrote, two weeks ago, as follows from Bedford:

"President Buchanan is still here, and is visited by large numbers of his old Pennsylvania friends and neighbors. I noticed quite a delegation of Bedford county farmers wending their way to his rooms on Saturday last. Mr. Buchanan receives these sons of toil as becomes a Democratic President, and they seem to appreciate fully his genial and warm-hearted bearing. Some of them, I am told, came thirty miles to take the Old Chief by the hand. Demagogues may slander and revile—enemies may lay their shares for his feet—false friends may go on in the work of treason; but the people—the great popular heart of the Union—are with the Administration of James Buchanan."

☞The Star "takes pleasure in recommending" Forney's Press "to all honest Democrats!" "Honest Democrats" know that the Press is fully in the interests of the Black Republicans,—and they know, too, that the Star would recommend nothing Democratic. Forney is against the Democratic State Ticket, and is in favor of that of the Opposition. "Honest Democrats" will thus be able to account for the Star's "recommendation" of this "bird of" its own "feather."

☞The late news from Europe strikingly illustrates the uncertainty of popularity.—A few weeks ago the Emperor Napoleon was almost worshipped by the Italian people. He entered cities in triumph, and the populace grew wild in their enthusiasm to do him honor. Now he is detested by the same people, and his portraits cannot be exposed in shop windows without causing violence. Such is the reward his treachery and baseness are receiving.—Exchange.

☞The prompt refusal of Mr. Buchanan to let his name be connected in any way with the nomination at Charleston, has taken the wind out of the sails of all those piratical crafts who seised upon the idea conveyed by the article in the Pittsburg Post, as a pretext to abuse him. Mr. Buchanan to-day stands, in the purity of his course and the integrity of his actions, so high that the slush thrown at him by Forney & Co., comes far short of its mark, still falling back upon those who hurl it, they are bespattered all over with their own filth.

Shameful.—The Catholic Church at Augusta, Ga., was set on fire on Tuesday week, and a valuable painting of the Crucifixion burnt.

Local Affairs.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The Democratic County Convention, to-day, placed in nomination the following excellent ticket:

FREDERICK DIEHL, of Franklin.
Commissioner,
JAMES H. MARSHALL, of Hamiltonban.
Director of the Poor,
JOSEPH J. KUHN, of Reading.

WAYBRIGHT ZIEGLER, of Gettysburg.
District Attorney,

Representative Delegate to State Convention—Hon. J. B. DANNER.

Installation of Pastor.

The installation of Rev. T. B. BUCHER as Pastor of the Gettysburg charge of the German Reformed Church, will take place, in the Church here, on Saturday next, the 13th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Revs. KREMER, MILLER, HOFFMANN, SECHLER, (and probably others,) are expected to be present and participate in the exercises of the occasion. A special meeting of Classis will be held the evening previous.

Preaching may be expected in the Church in this place on Sabbath morning following, and at Mark's Church in the afternoon.

In New Quarters.

The County Commissioners removed into their room in the new Court House on Monday, and the Register and Clerk of the Courts followed suit on Tuesday. The Prothonotary's vault will be fully shelved in a day or two, when that officer will also change quarters. The rooms removed into are all spacious and airy, with any quantity of light, and are in every respect admirably adapted for the purposes intended, as experience will demonstrate.

—In passing down Middle street, on Thursday, we noticed that Mr. POWERS was engaged with a force of workmen in putting up a flight of very solid granite steps in the rear of the building. The granite work in front will also be up in a few days.

Fire!

At about 3 o'clock on Friday morning last, our citizens were startled by the cry of "Fire!" "Fire!" Flames were seen issuing from the stable of Mr. ABNER M. TOWNSLEY, in Franklin street, near High, and before they could be subdued, the building and its contents, including a horse, set of harness, two or three tons of hay, lumber, and other articles, were consumed. A stack of hay adjoining was partly burned. There was no insurance on the property, and the loss will fall severely upon Mr. T. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Pic Nic.

The Sabbath School of the Bethlehem Church (Union) at Bendersville will have a Pic Nic in some grove convenient to that town, on Saturday, the 13th inst. A general invitation is extended to the public, and an interesting time may be expected. A Brass Band from Gettysburg will probably be present.

A Pic Nic will come off, in Snyder's grove, on the Conowago, on Saturday, the 27th inst. The committee will spare no effort to make it a "tip-top" affair.

Degree Conferred.

The honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon Prof. JACOBS, of this place, at the late Commencement of Wittenburg College.

At the late Commencement of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, the degree of A. M. was conferred upon A. H. DILL, Esq., late of this place. Mr. D. left on Wednesday last, for Tennessee, in which State he intends to reside permanently.

Destruction of a Barn.

On Tuesday afternoon the log barn of Mr. Franklin G. Emmert, about two and a half miles from town, was struck by lightning and set on fire. The conflagration was so rapid that before effective assistance could be summoned the building and its contents were consumed. There was no insurance upon either, and the loss is estimated at one thousand dollars.—Hanover Spectator.

Railroad Dividend.

The President and Directors of the Hanover Branch Rail Road Company have declared a dividend of one dollar per share on the capital stock, payable on and after the 10th inst.

"Circulate the Documents!"

The Compiler will be furnished for the campaign at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, paid in advance. The county canvass promises to be an interesting one, and we trust that hundreds who do not take a County Paper will avail themselves of this advantage to get The Compiler at an unprecedentedly low price. The Know Nothing Black Republican leaders and managers will, no doubt, resort to their usual game of falsehood and deception in order to carry their point, but we expect to be after them, with "a sharp stick," and to be able to expose their attempted cheats. Circulate The Compiler.

☞It is not a pleasant task for us to ask Patrons for money, but it must be done.—We want and must have money by the August Court, and hope our friends will come prepared to fork over. We have hundreds upon hundreds of dollars due and owing to us in different amounts, and we would respectfully and kindly ask those indebted to pay up at once!

Subscribers at a distance can remit by mail, in registered letters, at our risk.

☞The annual Commencement of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, was held on the 27th of July, in Fulton Hall, Lancaster city. The graduating class numbered twenty-one, being greater than on any preceding occasion since the union of Franklin and Marshall College. Among the list of graduates we notice the name of Mr. JACOB KERN, of Oxford.

☞This neighborhood was visited by refreshing rains on Tuesday and Friday afternoons last, which the growing corn much needed.

☞The contribution of "—"Pen-droppings for The Compiler," continued—is welcome, and will appear in our next. Hope to hear from him again.

Sheriff's Sales.

Sheriff LIGHTNER sold the Foundry of Border & Rose, in East Berlin, on Friday last, for $1,450—David Border purchaser.

His sales on Saturday were:

Beautiful.

We publish the following from the Erie (Pa.) Observer:

"Talk about Piccolomini, Strakosch, and other fashionable singers; there is not a mother's son or daughter in our goodly city, or in the country either, that cannot attend a better concert, 'without money and without price,' every day of their lives, if they have a mind to. All they have to do is to get up at four in the morning, throw up their window, if it is not already up, which it ought to be, and let in the voice of the birds. Listen! there is a robin—can Piccolomini beat that? there goes an Oriole, Jenny Lind is nowhere; hear that Blue-bird, how it stretches its little throat, and tries to lift its voice above the rest of the feathered band! And now they are in chorus, Robin, Oriole, Blue-bird, Cat-bird, even to the little Wren; did it ever produce anything equal to it?—did mortal voice ever sing His praise half as effectively? We doubt it! And yet how few enjoy it—simply because it costs nothing, and is not the fashion."

And——because the bird "concert" comes off a leetle too early in the day! Say, friend SLOAN, couldn't the hour be changed? Unless it is, we must continue to refuse your "show" the benefit of our countenance.

Letter from Iowa.

A letter from a gentleman residing in Iowa to a friend in this place, dated July 29th, says:

I see by the newspapers, that Pennsylvania is a little ahead of Iowa in cutting her wheat, &c. Our farmers are all busy, and will finish this week. I have fifty acres of very good wheat, and forty-five acres as good appearance for corn as I ever seen—seven acres have been in good roasting ears for the last two weeks.

Iowa has never been blessed with as good a crop before. Everything in abundance. Grain of all kinds, good in quality and great in quantity. Potatoes and vegetables very plenty. Our whole country has put on a very different countenance since this time last year. Farmers have their heads up again, hoping by their present crop to come up square with the world again.

The Compiler comes to me with more news than a weekly letter. I feel posted with it. I am gratified to see an account nearly every week of some improvement in Gettysburg. I am glad, too, that the Railroad Company take proper pride in their road. I should like to take a ride behind the new Locomotive. If they continue to keep good stock on the road, they may expect to be patronized in a way that will pay expenses and a neat percentage beside.

☞The Gettysburg Railroad Company contemplates running an Excursion Train to the Shrewsbury Camp Meeting on Sunday week, providing sufficient encouragement can be had. The train would leave this in the morning and return in the evening—round trip fare $1 40. Persons wishing to go will please leave their names with the ticket agent during the present week.

☞A party of forty or fifty persons, from Marsh and Rock creeks, had a delightful excursion over the Railroad to Hanover and back on Saturday last.

☞Mr. HENRY HOFFMAN, of East Berlin, has purchased Black's tavern stand, in Emmitsburg—price $2,300.

☞Mr. BANKARD is about commencing the erection of a three-story brick building on the corner of Washington and High streets, and a two-story on the rear of the lot, fronting on High. Improvement in that quarter of the town is rapidly on the increase.

The Western Maryland Railroad.—The company purpose to celebrate the opening of this road as far as Owen's Mills, on Thursday next, by a trip over the road with a number of invited guests, and a dinner at Green Springs, in there's best style. This road will soon place us in a direct connection with Westminster, and, eventually, with Hagerstown. The route has been prepared for the rails to Union Bridge, the iron bought and paid for, and all that is now needed is the means to lay the rails and prepare the line for operation.—Sun.

☞The Cincinnati papers contain dispatches from various sections of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, giving accounts of fine rains in those localities on Sunday and Monday. In some places it rained very heavily for several hours, and in others the shower was light.

Fears for the Safety of Kossuth.—A letter received in New York by the Ocean Queen, dated London, 19th, says that nothing had been heard there from Kossuth for several days, and it was feared that he had been treacherously dealt with.

☞At the Black Republican State Convention of Minnesota the names of two hundred and fifty candidates were presented for the seven offices which were to be filled at the next election. There are a great many "patriots" in the Republican camp.

Some Gal.—Says a country girl, describing her country home, "We raise our own fruit and vegetables, make our own pork, and lay our own eggs." That gal would make a capital wife for a poor man, especially in this burg, where eggs are scarce and dear.

☞A telegraphic despatch says that the Leavenworth Times has letters from the Pike's Peak gold region, stating that the mines continue to yield well, and that immense improvements are in contemplation to facilitate the business of mining. If Pike's Peak is a humbug, it is well managed, and those interested in it are governed by the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth."

☞The excess of the present wheat crop in the United States over the greatest ever known before, is set down at 25,000,000 bushels.

Letter from the President Declining a Renomination.

PITTSBURG, July 30.—The following letter, from the President, was received this morning, by Hon. Wilson M'Candless:

BEDFORD SPRINGS, 25th July, 1859.

MY DEAR SIR: I have received your kind note of the 19th inst., with the leader from the Post.

Whilst I appreciate, as it deserves, the ability and friendship displayed in the editorial, I yet regret that it has been published.—My determination, not, under any circumstances, to become a candidate for re-election, is final and conclusive. My best judgment and strong inclination unite in favor of this course. To cast doubts upon my predetermined purpose is calculated to impair my influence, in carrying important measures, and afford a pretext for saying that they have been dictated by the desire to be renominated.

With the kindest regards, &c.,
Respectfully, your friend,
JAMES BUCHANAN.

Primary Election at Baltimore.—Rowdyism and Riot.—BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.—The Ward primary elections of the American party are being held to-night in this city. There has been a great deal of rowdyism at the polls, and the boxes of the 20th Ward have been smashed.

The struggle is between the rowdy and the respectable portion of the party, in selecting delegates to the Nominating Convention. The indications are that the rowdies will be successful.

A man named Sullivan was arrested in the Sixth Ward, while in the act of firing off a large horse pistol loaded with slugs. Thomas Rowe was shot in the knee and William Thompson in the leg. One of them is considered mortally wounded.

There are rumors of other riotous proceedings.

Sagacity of a Dog.—At a fire recently in Philadelphia, says the Daily News, one of the workmen, named Peter Nestor, after eating his dinner laid himself down on a bench to take a nap. He fell asleep, and while the fire was increasing and closing around him, a bull dog, no doubt perceiving the danger, ran into the burning shop, and catching the sleeping man by his clothing, awakened him in time to save his life. The bench on which the man was sleeping was in flames at one end when he was awakened by the interference of the dog.

Sensation in Religious Circles.—The New York Evening Post announces that Rev. Dr. Bellows had proposed in an address before the united clergymen of the Unitarian Church, the establishment of a new Catholic Church, differing from the Church of Rome by the omission of what may be deemed certain absolute, erroneous or needless doctrines, but preserving the attractive features, the ritual, the imaginative symbols, and the sacred festivals which help to give the Roman Catholic Church its popular and universal character. The new sect is to be designated the "Broad Church."

☞It has been truly remarked that Sardinia, by accepting Lombardy without the fortresses necessary to defend it, has made herself the vassal of France, and that Italy has gained nothing; while the Emperor Napoleon returns to Paris nominally a conqueror, but, in reality, a baffled and disheartened man.

Old Folks' Quilting.—An old folks' quilting took place at Smith Sutton, Mass., a few days since. The "quilting" was done at the house of widow Joshua Lockey, and was attended by sixteen ladies, whose united ages amount to ten hundred and fifty four years. The oldest, Mrs. Joshua Hicks, is 83 years of age, and the youngest, Mrs. Ann S Burdon, is 35. Three are upwards of 80; four between 70 and 80; six between 60 and 70; three between 50 and 60. They quilted a quilt of nearly two thousand pieces, the largest less than four inches square, put together by Mrs. Lackey, who is upwards of 80 years of age.

Gaming at the Springs.—The editor of the Warrenton Whig, writing from the Red Sweet (Va.) Springs, says:

A few days ago, a couple of Southern gentlemen here, rich planters from Red river, played seven games of old sledge for $5,000 a game, and the winner took every game. $35,000 was lost and the money paid, I hear, in a check on the Bank of Louisiana. I could give the names, but forbear.

Steam on Common Roads.—The running of steam engines on common roads, though new in this country, has been tested in England. There is an engine running daily from Manchester to a colliery, eight miles distant. The road is undulating, and has several sharp curves, yet the engine draws five four-wheeled wagons, containing thirty tons weight.

Dreadful Railroad Accident—Thirteen Lives Lost.—Albany, August 3.—An accident occurred on the Northern Railroad, near Shaghticoke, last night, of a very serious character. The down train due at Albany at 7.25, whilst passing the bridge which spans the Tammanuck, was precipitated into the creek below, a distance of twenty-five feet, falling in from six to eight feet of water. Over thirteen persons are reported killed.

☞Blondin's star is to be outshone by that of one W. T. Aymar, who proposes, we are told, if Mr. Porter will allow scaffolding to be erected on Goat Island, to turn a somersault down into the water at the foot of the island, a depth of one hundred and seventy feet from where he springs. This will assuredly be surpassing the rope walker, and beating him at a bound.

☞Hon. Horace Mann, formerly a member of Congress from Massachusetts, but recently a Professor in Antioch College, Ohio, died on last Tuesday afternoon. Professor Mann was well known by his writings and speeches, and was among the zealous "reformers" of the present age.

The Glorious Harvest.—The Lancaster papers are expressing great joy at the glorious crops that have been gathered in that county. The harvest is said to be the greatest ever secured there. The Union estimates that the wheat crop has yielded not less than four millions of bushels—an enormous yield, truly.

☞Legal notice has been given that application will be made to the Court of Quarter Sessions of a charter for a "Mutual Fire Insurance Co. in the Borough of Hanover."

☞The India Rubber Case of Horace H. Lay, Alexander Hay, and others, was decided in the U. S. Circuit Court, in Baltimore, a few weeks since, in favor of those gentlemen. By this decision, our townsman, Mr. Hay, will be much benefitted pecuniarily.—York Pennsylvanian.

☞Forney has written, it is said, to several personal friends in Washington, asking their advice as to whether he had not better seek the Opposition nomination for Clerk of the House of Representatives, and that one of them wrote in reply, "he saw nothing wrong in such a movement, as he (Forney) was now part and parcel of the Republican party, and his paper, the Press, the ablest Republican journal in the country."

The Peace Conference.

NEW YORK, August 3.—The steamer Persia arrived here this morning from Liverpool, with dates to the 23d ult., two days later than previous advices.

Breadstuffs were firm. Wheat generally closed with an advancing tendency; all qualities had slightly advanced.

The Peace Conference.—The Conference to be held at Zurich between France and Austria was expected to meet in about a week. It was thought that Sardinia would not be represented.

The general feeling of discontent with the terms of peace continued unabated, and Napoleon's explanations were not reassuring.

No one had been named as the representative of Sardinia at the Zurich Conference, and it was therefore expected that none will be present, but that Sardinia, if she pleases, will acquiesce in the Austro-French arrangement in a separate article. It was supposed that a European Congress would be called after the conclusion of the Zurich negotiations.

It is affirmed that Sardinia signed nothing but an armistice, and is consequently in a nominal state of war with Austria.

Italy.—Italy continued to exhibit discontent with the terms of peace.

Tuscany showed strong hostility to the return of the Grand Duke. The Provisional Government had directed a popular vote to be taken on the subject.

England.—The foreign policy of England had been debated in the House of Commons. D'Israeli opposed all interference in the Peace Congress. Lords Palmerston and Russell thought that England might with propriety take part, but nothing was determined upon.

Lord Elgin gave notice of a resolution against any inference by England in the Italian question.

Mr. Gladstone's proposed increase of the income tax was agreed to.

France.—The Emperor Napoleon had received the congratulations of the Diplomatic Corps. The Papal Nuncio was spokesman for the Ambassadors on the occasion. The Emperor in reply said that Europe was so unjust to him at the commencement of the war that he was happy to conclude peace as soon as the honor and interests of France were satisfied. As a proof of this moderation he said he trusted the peace would be enduring.

Arrest of William Coulson, the Murderer of Jonathan B. Chronister—Attempted Rescue—Arrest of the Ringleader.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Capt. Joseph Mitchell, of the Central station, received such information that he was induced to visit a house on Dolphin street, near Pennsylvania avenue, where it was thought Coulson was secreted. The Captain, with Lieut. Wright, Sergeant McComas, officers G. W. Robinson and Williams, repaired to the house indicated. Capt. Mitchell and Lieut. Wright took possession of the front of the house, while the remaining officers guarded the rear. Upon arriving in front of the house the Captain demanded admission, which was refused by the lady of the house, Mrs. Taylor, on the plea that her husband had previously warned her against opening the door to any police officer, as they wanted to get the furniture for a debt. The officers now threatened to burst open the door if it was not unlocked. Mrs. Taylor then opened the door, and just as the officers entered the front room Coulson rushed out of a rear door into the yard, where he was arrested.

By this time a great crowd had collected in the neighborhood, and from the remarks and movements of several young men, a rescue was feared, and when on North street, near Edger, Richard Hinton, a rowdy of considerable notoriety, made a rush, followed by over one hundred persons, towards the officers having Coulson in charge. After a little excitement, during which Hinton was severely handled, he was arrested and committed to jail by Justice McAllister. Coulson made no attempt to escape, and stated that he never intended to leave the city. Upon the subject of the crime with which he is charged he would not speak. He appeared downcast. and keenly felt the awful position in which he had placed himself. Upon arriving at the jail gate, he appeared to falter, and hesitated as to entering that home from which probably he will never leave alive. His brother George, when informed of the arrest, appeared confounded, and remained silent for several minutes.—Baltimore Clipper of Thursday.

Raised from the Dead.

A Curious Case.—A curious case occurred last week at Rome, this county. Mrs. Peters, wife of a German of that name, after a short illness, was supposed to have died. Her husband made immediate arrangements for her funeral, having procured a coffin in this city. On placing her body in the coffin a general perspiration was observed throughout the skin, which was reported to the husband, with the suggestion that the burial be deferred in the hope of reanimation. To this the husband objected, and had her interred the same day, (Saturday.) After the burial services were over some relatives of the supposed deceased, who reside in this city, arrived at Rome to attend the funeral, which had already taken place, and hearing of the circumstances caused the body, which then had been four hours in the grave, to be disinterred, when to their surprise and joy, they found signs of life still remaining. Restoratives being administered, Mrs. Peters gradually recovered, was taken by her friends to this city and is now well. We are informed that she refuses to again live with her husband. The circumstances connected with the affair are strange indeed, and should undergo investigation.—Columbus (Ohio) Fact.

☞A British officer writing from Teheran, Persia, in the London Times, remarks:—"A Cathartic Pill manufactured by 'an American Chemist' (Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.) has cured the Shah of a Liver Complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked. Doubtless our own scholars made the discoveries which he employs, and thus it is in everything; we do the labor, then the mousing Americans put their mark on it and take the reward. Doc. Ayer is idolized by the Court and its retainers here, which will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff box, or diamond hilted sword, while not the name even of Davy, Christoson or Brodie—the great lights by which he shines, is known."—New York Sunday Paper.

Husband, Wife and Child Killed Simultaneously.—A letter from Utica, Miss., to the Petersburg Express, dated July 19th, says: —Mr. William L. Fairchild, (a most estimable citizen in all the relations of life,) was returning from the house of a neighbor to his own residence in a buggy, accompanied by his accomplished young wife and an only child, day before yesterday, and when within one mile of home a large tree fell across the road and killed them all. The tree fell so as to strike the head of each one, and mash them in such a terrible manner as to cause the brain of each to escape from the skull. Their bodies were also dreadfully mangled. It may be mentioned as a remarkable fact, that a little negro boy, who occupied a position in the seat of the buggy, escaped with only a few scratches.

The Naturalization Question.—The Lexington (Ky.) Statesman referring to the protection afforded by our government to naturalized citizens visiting Europe, says:

Simon Straus, of this city, left the domains of Austria before he had rendered the military service imposed by the laws of that government on every citizen. He came to the United States, was naturalized, and a few months ago returned to Austria. He was there summoned to appear, on three days' notice, for military service. He immediately reported himself to the United States consul, who received him as an American citizen, and did protect him as such. Mr. Straus had no more trouble. He is now in Lexington and can substantiate the truth of this statement.

☞A grand parade of visiting fire companies took place in Shippensburg, on Thursday.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—The unequalled success that has attended the application of this Medicine in Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchial Affections, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Incipient Consumption, has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice; many of whom advise us of the fact under their own signature.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS.

Auburn, Sept. 6, 1858.
S. W. Fowle & Co.—Sirs:—I most cheerfully add my testimony in favor of the Balsam. We have used it in our family, in Pulmonary affections, Coughs and Colds, and esteem it a most valuable remedy, and have recommended it in various complaints of this nature with invariably happy results. W. D. LYNCH, M. D.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418, Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what is said of them:

Scott, Cortland co., N. Y., March 21, 1857.
Dr. C. M. Jackson—Dear Sir:—In behalf of the afflicted, I pen a few lines to you. I have suffered and doctored myself, and know how to pity those in a like condition. Until I commenced taking your Bitters last summer, I was not able to do anything, or even to sit up any considerable length of time. Before I had taken the first bottle, I felt like a new man, and now, after having continued the use of them a short time, in the worst season of the year, I am able to labor hard every day. To say the least, I think I have received more benefit from the Bitters, than all other medicines I have taken. I have not only used your Bitters myself, but have given bottles and parts of bottles to those complaining of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and in every case, they tell me they have taken no medicine so beneficial as the Bitters.
Respectfully yours, JAMES VON BENSCHOTER.

A VOICE FROM VIRGINIA.

Cabin Point, Surry co., Va.
Dr. Seth S. Hance:—I was in Baltimore in April, 1854, and from a paper I received of yours was induced to buy a box of your Pills, recommended as a sovereign cure for the Epileptic Fits. At that time one of my servants had been afflicted with fits about twelve years. When reaching home, I commenced with the Pills according to directions. I do not think she has had one since. My wife, though, is somewhat induced to believe she may have had one only. Enclosed you will find five dollars, for which you will please forward me two boxes. I suppose you can forward them by mail. Your compliance will oblige me. Yours respectfully, M. P. ELEDGE.

Dr. Hance's Epileptic Pills are also a sovereign remedy for every modification of nervous diseases. The nervous sufferer, whether tormented by the acute, physical agony of neuralgia, tic-doloureux, or ordinary head ache, afflicted with paralysis, borne down and dispirited by that terrible lassitude which proceeds from a lack of nervous energy, or experiencing any other pain of disability arising from the unnatural condition of the wonderful machinery which connects every member with the source of sensation, obtains and thought—derives immediate benefit from the use of those Pills, which at once calms, invigorates, and regulates the shattered nervous organization.

Sent to any part of the country by mail, free of postage. Address Seth S. Hance, 108 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md. Price, one box, $3; two, $5; twelve, $24.

AN ANCIENT MONSTER.—The people of South Jersey have recently exhumed from a marl bed the skeleton of an animal, which must have been of the kangaroo species, of monstrous size. Its hind legs must have been seven feet long; the entire length of the animal, tail included, at least twenty five feet. The head was small and its neck thin; its teeth about two feet long, and so arranged as to form the words, "Buy your clothing of SAMSON, opposite the Bank, Gettysburg."

COMFORT FOR THE BALDHEADS.—A Paris letter writer says: "All the great bankers are bald—all the diplomatists, all the editors, all the managers of the theatres, all the officers of the army, all the senators, all the deputies, all the counsellors of State, all the magistrates. The most elegant men of Paris are bald; the writers are all bald. Baldness is becoming the sign of power, for every man who thinks hard in these days, thinks off his hair—Hail to the Bald-Head ocracy." In this country all the hard thinkers are distinguished by wearing garments procured at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia.

New Agricultural Settlement.

TO ALL WANTING FARMS, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate, 25 miles southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, New Jersey.—An old estate, consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil, has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser.—A population of some fifteen hundred, from various parts of the middle States and New England, have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre; the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer.—Crops of grain grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vinyards and peach orchards planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET, as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Produce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before.—The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, and such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a free ticket for six months, and a half-price ticket for three years.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.—In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or founderies for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would affect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumberance when money is paid. Route to the land: leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic county, New Jersey, or S. B. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth street, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

Dr. M'Lane's

CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE & LIVER PILLS.—We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to DR. CHAS. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS. We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz: The VERMIFUGE, for expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms. The LIVER PILLS, for the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of FEVER AND AGUE, preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are unrivaled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the Proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS, PITTSBURG, PA., to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last 20 years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest materials, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

They are sugar-coated, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

"HIAWATHIAN."

GO to Tipton's—go to Tipton's—
Go to Tipton's in the corner—
In the corner in the Diamond—
In the Diamond near McClellan's,
If you want your hair dressed finely—
If you want your face shaved smoothly.
Bachelors who never knew it—
Tip's the fellow that can do it—
Do it in the latest fashion—
Do it quick and do it neatly,
And improve your fine looks greatly,
Make you look so young and sprightly,
Make you feel more young and brightly,
Make you feel like going nightly
To call upon some pretty damsel
Who before would not look at you,
At you as you passed her daily,
Daily on the public street.
And young men who wear moustaches,
Who want some one to sew patches—
Patches where your breeches tear—
Tip's the boy to make up matches—
Matches with some lady fair.
Then repair to Tipton's shop,
Dandy, Fogy, Flirt and Fop.

The Sickles' Trial

FOR THE SHOOTING OF KEY, and the Execution of Four Murderers in Baltimore, has created the greatest excitement. The papers are filled with details of these shocking affairs. The people talk about it on the streets and in their houses, and look upon these tragedies as being unparalleled in history. So it is with PICKING'S CLOTHING—having just opened the largest and most complete, as well as the cheapest and best assortment of READY-MADE CLOTHING, of every description and style, ever offered in this place, the people talk about it on the highways and in their houses, urging each other to go at once to Picking's and purchase a new suit of clothes. But joking aside, we assure the public in all candor that our stock cannot be surpassed—consisting in part of Black Cloth Coats, Cassimere Frock and Sack Coats, Tweed and Linen Coats, and in fact every kind that the market can produce. Vests of every description. Pants to suit all classes and conditions. Shirts, Collars, Stockings, Gloves, Suspenders, &c., &c. Also, Carpet Bags, Umbrellas, Trunks, Accordeons, Violins, in short everything usually found in his line. Thankful for past favors, he solicits a continuance of the same. Call and examine our stock—no trouble to show goods. Remember the place, in Chambersburg street, opposite the Lutheran church.

Elastic Cement

ROOFING.—The subscribers are prepared to contract and put on at the shortest notice, W. H. Child & Co.'s PATENT FIRE AND WATER PROOF ELASTIC CEMENT ROOFING.

It is perfectly Fire and Water proof, and in point of durability is equal, if not superior, to any Metalic Roofing. It can be put on over tin, tar, iron, or shingle roofs, however flat or steep they may be.

In point of resisting the elements of fire and water, nothing has yet been discovered equal to the Elastic Cement.

Those who have used it, have testified that it is the very perfection of Roofing, and that there is no further room for improvement. No one will now think of putting on shingles, when this Cement can be had for much less money and will outwear four shingle roofs. This Roofing is warranted as represented.

The Elastic Cement is the cheapest and best protection from decay, for wood exposed to the weather or dampness of the ground. It is also the best paint for iron, effectually preventing rust; and wherever applied perfectly excludes dampness.

The subscribers have this Cement for sale, in quantities to suit. For further information, apply to P. T. & C. M. TATE,

What Everybody Wants.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR: containing in plain language, free from medical terms, the CAUSES, SYMPTOMS and CURE of disease in every form, with important RULES FOR PRESERVING THE HEALTH, and Directions for the Sick Chamber, and the Proper Treatment of the Sick.—This book is written in a plain, easy and familiar style, adapted expressly to family and individual use. It advocates no particular theory of medicine, but draws alike from the Flowers of the Field, the Plants of the Garden, or the Minerals of Earth, for such Remedies as have proved the most simple, safe, and effectual, believing that wherever disease has found a foothold, there the Giver of all Good has, in some form, mercifully placed a Specific. Neither does it profess to supercede the physician, but only to avoid the necessity and expense of calling him in except in dangerous cases. It is in fact a physician itself, always at hand and ready to serve you, while its simple receipt may soon save you many times its cost.

It contains 308 pages, in a clear and open type, is illustrated by appropriate engravings, and will be forwarded to your address, postage paid and neatly bound, on receipts of the price $1 00. Everybody should have it.

"BE A WOMAN."

There is so much that is appropriately suggested in the following lines, that we cannot resist the temptation to insert them. Although some of our fair friends may turn up their dainty noses in derision, there are many, and by far the larger portion, who will thank us for them:

Oft I've heard a gentle mother,
 As the twilight hours began,
Pleading with a son on duty,
 Urging him to be a man.
But unto her blue-eyed daughter,
 Though with love's words quite as ready,
Points she out the other duty,
 "Strive, my dear, to be a lady!"

What's a lady? Is it something
 Made of hoops, and silks, and airs,
Used to decorate the parlor,
 Like the fancy rugs and chairs?
Is it one that wastes on novels
 Every feeling that is human?
If 'tis this to be a lady,
 'Tis not this to be a woman.

Mother, then, unto your daughter
 Speak of something higher far
Than to be mere fashion's lady—
 "Woman" is the brightest star.
If ye, in your strong affection,
 Urge your son to be a true man,
Urge your daughter no less strongly
 To rise up and be a woman.

Yes, a woman—brightest model
 Of that high and perfect beauty;
Where the mind and soul and body
 Blend to work out life's great duty—
Be a woman—naught is higher
 On the gilded list of fame;
On the catalogue of virtue
 There's no brighter holier name.

Be a woman—on to duty,
 Raise the world from all that's low,
Place high in the social heaven
 Virtue's fair and radiant bow!
Lend thy influence to each effort
 That shall raise our nature human:
Be not fashion's gilded lady,
 Be a brave, true, whole-souled woman.

Miscellaneous.

Who Offers?

I am just twenty, but will not marry before I am two years older. I am a graduate of Marietta Seminary. I can do, and love to do, all manner of house-work, from making pies and bread to washing shirts; I can do all kinds of sewing, from embroidery to linsey pantaloons; I can skate, ride, sing, play on the piano or spinning-wheel, or anything that may reasonably be expected of my sex. If required I can act the part of a dance in the society of the "upper ten," or the part of a woman among women. As for riding, here allow me to make a banter: any man may bring two horses, give me choice and ten feet, and then if he overtakes me in one mile I am his; if not, the horse is mine. Beware.

I am a believer in hydropathy, and use no tea or coffee, neither do I wear corsets; but I am willing that my husband shall do either, if he desires. I believe in "woman's rights," but believe I have no right to meddle with politics, or men's business in general—neither have the men a right to meddle with ours. As for appearance, I am neither tall nor short; large nor small, but I am just as I was made. I have never attempted to alter my shape or color, as I am perfectly satisfied with the same. By fops I am styled handsome, by the young men on whom I please to smile, I am styled the height of perfection; by those I frown upon, "the devil's imp;" by the wise and sober I am called wild and foolish; by my female acquaintances, "Molly," and by my uncle, "Tom."

If I marry, it will be a man who uses no spirits, tobacco or profanity. He may be young or old, handsome or homely, rich or poor, but not in the extreme. He must have a good common education at least. He must be industrious; he must be capable of bearing himself in society, that he will be beloved by all; his disposition on after acquaintance must please in every respect. He, after marriage, must allow me to follow the dictates of my own conscience, provided I do not trample on his rights, and he must follow suit.

MARY JINKS.

A Church Seized with a Billious Attack.

Last Sabbath was Quarterly Meeting in the M. E. Church, and, as usual on such occasions, the Sacrament was administered. After the meeting adjourned, the members went their several ways, some to dine with friends in town, some to their homes in the country. In about an hour the doctors were in requisition in every direction; the whole membership was seized with a simultaneous "billious attack," and the demand for remedial agents was general. The first smell of the sumptuous dinners prepared provoked sudden and involuntary eructation on the part of all the orthodox members of the respective families. The venerable Peter Cartwright, Presiding Elder, for whom preparations had, of course, been made, retired from the prospect as dinner came on, a little bent over, with both hands placed below the vest buttons, declaring that "he didn't feel like eating." One brother is said to have made for his house, half bent, and with a groan, tumbled on to the bed, and in reply to his wife's "What's the matter?" exclaimed in a despairing tone, "Oh, I've got the cholera." The epidemic spread all through the country, exciting considerable alarm, and occasioning a general casting up of accounts. But the panic subsided when it was ascertained that antimonial wine had been, by mistake, administered to the whole body of communicants? We understand that "Uncle Peter" said "it was the first time he ever knew an attempt to vomit the devil out of the church." Although it was a serious matter, the sinners, owing to the hardness of their hearts, did laugh.—Winchester (Ill.) Chronicle, July 16.

☞What is fame? What is fortune?—Nicholas Longworth, the "Crœsus" of Cincinnati, worth in money from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000, while sitting the other day, on the steps of a drinking-house, with his hat between his knees, waiting for a friend, was the recipient of twenty-five cents from a passing gentleman, who mistook him for a beggar!

☞An Irish jockey once selling a nag to a gentleman frequently observed with emphatic earnestness, that he was an honest horse.—After the purchase the gentleman asked him what he meant by an honest horse. "Why, sir," replied the seller, "whenever I rode him he always threatened to throw me, and he certainly never deceived me."

☞A writer in All the Year Round describes gout thus: "Put your toe in a vice; turn the screw till you can bear the pain no longer—that's rheumatism. Give the screw one more turn—that's gout."

☞Why is a handsome girl like an excellent mirror? Ans.—Because she is a good looking-(g)lass.

My First Visit to New York.

Having come to a good understanding about breakfast, bills of fare, and things in general about the Astor, said Mr. Philikins, I told the clerk I wanted to see Broadway, and asked him to tell me where I should go to look for it.

"Right in front of the Hotel," says he.

"Why," says I, "you don't mean to say that narrow street out there in front of the house is Broadway, do you?"

"I do," says he.

"Well," says I, "then suppose it is, and all I have to say is, I'm disappointed. I expected to find Broadway a wide street, which it would take a spy-glass to look across; but this is nothing: I've seen wider streets than these in Chicago."

The clerk said he was sorry Broadway did not suit me, and hoped I wouldn't let my opinions get out, as it might make the inhabitants feel bad. He said if I would keep still, he'd speak to the Mayor at the first opportunity. I promised secrecy, shook hands with him, and set out to see what could be seen.

As I went down the front steps inside, I met a gentleman and bowed to him, as we always do to strangers, where I live; but he took no notice of me at all. Thinks I you're an ill-bred fellow, anyhow, with all your clothes. At the foot of the stairs I met another man and bowed to him. He gave me a saucy stare and passed on. Well, says I to myself, if that is the game here in New York, I can play at it with the best of you; and I resolved not to bow to another soul unless I was bowed to first.

I sauntered along down Broadway, looking at the signs and shop windows, when suddenly a chap driving an omnibus beckoned to me. Hello, thinks I, here's an old acquaintance, but on looking at him closely I didn't recognize him.

He kept motioning to me, however, and looking at me for a long time. I hadn't gone a rod before another chap motioned to me, and then another, who was driving down street, beckoned to me, too. I thought some of them must know me and so I went up to one to see what it meant.

As he saw me coming he pulled up his horses, and says I, Well, neighbor, how are you? Where have we seen each other before?

"Ride up?" says he.

"How?" says I.

"Ride up?" says he, "right away, up Broadway?"

"No," says I, "I don't want to ride up Broadway; I'm going t'other way."

"What did you stop the 'bus for, then?" said he.

"I didn't stop it: you stopped it yourself, I replied; and what's more, you stopped me, too. You beckoned to me, and I thought you knew me, or wanted to say something."

"You're a precious green one," said he; and all the folks inside the omnibus laughed as he drove off.

I kept on down the street till I came to a fire plug, on which I set down to rest and look around.

The people came along in such crowds from the church with a tall steeple (Trinity) that I thought perhaps they had just had a meeting down there, and that the people were going home to breakfast; so I'd wait till they got past.

But they kept coming thicker and thicker; so thinks I they have a revival down at the church, and I'll go down and see how they are getting along, and give them some real Kentucky revival hymns, on the regular hallelujah order.

So I went along down. Before I got to the church, I saw a chap standing on the sidewalk with a stick on his shoulder; on the top of it was a big board: on this board was written, in big black letters,

"STRANGERS, BEWARE OF MOCK AUCTIONS!"

Thinks I, what is a Mock Auction? This is something new; I must look into it; and in my curiosity to penetrate the mysteries of a Mock Auction, I forgot the revival at the big church.

I walked up to the house before which the chap with the big board was standing, and looked in.

A young man was selling all sorts of valuable articles. Right next door another man was selling things too; and it occurred to me that he had got that chap with the big board to stand before the first man's door so as to injure his business. This struck me as being real mean my sympathies were touched; my Kentucky grit began to ferment, and I determined to patronize the injured party; for you know a Kentuckian always goes in for fair play, and no favors asked.

While I stood thinking over the matter, the man who was selling watches, (the "injured party") happened to see me, and immediately bowed to me in a very polite manner. That was the first bow I'd received in New York, and it had upon me a most gratifying effect. Says I to myself, I've found a gentleman at last who is no upstart, who understands the usages of polite society. I returned his bow, and he then politely asked me to walk in, which I did.

Just as I stepped in, he bid off a handsome gold watch for $15. Bless my soul, thinks I, what a fool I was, not to bid on that! I might then have a nice gold watch to take home to my wife, and how proud she would have been!

So, says I, neighbor, have you any more of them?

"Yes, sir," he answered, "here's a splendid gold watch and chain, left for sale by a young gentleman from Cuba, who is out of money, and must sell at some price. I hope gentlemen will bid liberally, for the gentleman is very worthy and in great need."

The folks began to bid. "Three dollars," says one, "five dollars," says another. Thinks I, that's darned mean to take advantage of a poor fellow that way; so says I, "eighteen dollars." I suppose that rather frightened the company, for after that nobody else bid a cent, and the watch was knocked down to me. The man who sold it then went to the other end of the counter, telling me to pay the money to another man who was sitting at the desk with a big account book open before him. I paid the money, and then went to the other end of the room for my watch. When the auctioneer handed it to me, it didn't look like the one that I bid for, and on examining it closely, I saw it was nothing but copper! So says I—

"See here, stranger, this watch is nothing but copper, and I bought a gold watch.

"I didn't warrant it gold," said he.

"Well, I don't care what you warranted it for; you sold it for a gold watch, and it isn't gold; so just give me back my money."

"I have no authority to return money to any one, else I should be happy to accommodate you; you must speak to the cashier, to whom you paid your maney."

I then asked the cashier for my money, but he said he had no authority to return or pay out money either. I asked him who had authority then to give me back my money. He said no one in the establishment had authority to pay out money under any circumstances. Said I, you'all seem ready enough to take in money; and it's odd enough none of you can pay it out. He replied, that according to the rules of the establishment any one connected with it could receive money, but no one could pay it out; and these rules, he said, were always strictly enforced. Well, said I, you're a darned pretty set; I never heard of such a system before; I shant stand it. The fact is, my Kentucky dander riz just about this time, and I determined to whip the rascal, if he did not give me back my money; but before I could get to him, a chap, who said he was a policeman, told me confidentially that if I made a disturbance, he should be obliged to take me to the Tombs. This put a damper on my combativeness, for I heard horrid stories about the Tombs, and wouldn't have gone there for a dozen watches. So I thought I'd coax him to give me back my money, but he wouldn't listen to me at all.

I looked at the watch. It was just about the meanest looking thing that ever ticked; and thinks I, shall I give such a thing to my wife? I couldn't stand the thought. What! take a copper watch home as a present to my wife? to the mother of my children? I just took the thing by the chain, and says I—

"See here, do you suppose I'll take such a watch home to my wife? No, sir. Now, if you don't give me back my money, I'll take it out on the sidewalk and dash it into a thousand pieces!"

"Oh!" says he, "it was a lady's watch you wanted, was it? Why, then, didn't you say so before? We can sell you a splendid married lady's watch—just the thing for your wife, and I will give you a written guarantee of its genuineness; there will be no cheat about the watch."

"Well." I replied, "but what shall I do with the $18 I've fooled away on this copper thing?"

"Oh, that shall count on the other. I'll take the copper watch back."

Well, thinks I, I'll save my $18 any how, so I took hold of the one he showed me and examined it carefully. While I was inspecting it I heard a gentlemen behind me say, in a whisper to a friend, "Isn't that a splendid watch! it's worth at least $150; I wish I had my purse with me, so I could buy it; I'd have it, sure." Thinks I, that gentleman knows all about it, so there's no danger. I'll get it and no cheat.

We began to bid, and every one seemed to want the watch, for they all bid freely. It ran up to $118, and I got it. Now thinks I, here's a present fit for a wife; won't she be proud? I handed over the copper watch and $100, and left.

The next day I thought I'd ask a jeweler what my watch was worth, and don't you believe that turned out to be a copper one, too? I started to the Mock Auction store at once, but I couldn't find it. It was changed into a cigar store.

That was what I got by not going to that revival meeting, as I ought to have done.

There's Your Pig.

"Patrick, the widow Molony tells me that you have stolen one of her finest pigs. Is that so?"

"Yes, yer honor!"

"What have you done with it?"

"Killed it and ate it, yer honor!"

"Oh, Patrick! Patrick! when you are brought face to face with the widow and her pig on Judgment day, what account will you be able to give for yourself, when the widow accuses you for the theft?"

"Did you say the pig would be there, your riverence?"

"To be sure I did!"

"Well, then, your riverence, I'll say Mrs. Molony, there's your pig!"

Worth Knowing.

A Philadelphia paper states that a young lady of that city, while in the country, stepped on a rusty nail, which ran through her shoe into her foot. The inflammation and pain were great, and lock jaw was apprehended. A friend of the family recommended the application of a beet, taken from the garden and pounded fine, to the wound. It was done, and the effect was very beneficial. Soon the inflammation began to subside, and by keeping on the fresh beet, and changing it for a fresh one as its virtue seemed to become impaired, a speedy cure was effected. Simple and effectual remedies like this should be known to every one.

In a Pretty Fix.—A lady and gentleman in this vicinity, chancing to be bathing au naturel, but unseen by each other, being separated by a ledge of rocks, a mischievious boy exchanged one pile of clothing for the other.—Their perplexity and embarrassment on emerging from the water may be better imagined than described; but, seeing no other alternative, the lady donned the male and the gentleman the female apparel, hoops and "everything," and made their way to their homes in that guise.—New Haven News.

The Mysterious Piano.

Not long since I was invited to pay a visit to some friends out of town. In the family were three young ladies, besides young children. Being musical, we spent the greater part of the first evening of my visit singing and playing, and, at a proper hour retired for the night, as we supposed. As I was a great favorite with all the girls, each one wanted to sleep with me, and to effect this, it was decided that instead of going to my room, I should remain in their double-bedded room. Accordingly, instead of going to sleep, we lay and talked (as girls often do) some hours.—Milly touched me on the arm in the middle of a most interesting account I was giving her of the opera, and certain regular attendants there, and said:

"C., do you hear that?"

"Hear what? I do not listen to people when they are not talking to me," naturally supposing she referred to Margaret and Fanny, who were in the other bed.

"There! now, girls, don't you hear it? Some one is playing on the piano."

"Who can it be?" said Milly. "Why do you not lock it, Fanny, it is your place to do it."

"Well," said Fanny? "I did, and the key is in the pocket of my dress."

This, of course, we would not believe. So, trembling from head to foot, she got up, dark as it was, found the dress, with the key in its pocket. All this while we heard the piano, sounding in simple scales from top to bottom, vice versa, but producing the most wonderful quality of tones, resembling those of a musical box more than anything else.

We had all heard of spirits, and were quite sure there were some in the house, for it was not probable that any of the children would be up at that hour of the night. So it was decided that we should hold each other by the hand, and go across the hall to the father's room. All this time the scales were being played on the piano, as if some one had been ordered to practice for an hour. We succeeded in awakening Mr. W, and in a few minutes he came out with a light in his hand, when we formed a procession after him with chattering teeth, but withal eager faces, for our curiosity was stronger than our fear. We enter the parlor; sure enough the piano is shut and locked, while the gamut is being played regularly and distinctly. The father asks for the key; all the girls scream out at once:

"Don't open it; it must be spirits."

But Mr. W. does not believe in piano playing spirits and opens the instrument, while we are all huddled together, and he exclaims:

"Gracious me, it's a mouse!"

How we laughed and screamed, and looked for the little animal, but no use, mousey had practised his lesson and gone.

It was easy to account for the evenness of his playing, as he was too small to skip a note, and therefore touched every one.

To make Butter in Five Minutes without a Churn.

A correspondent highly recommends the following recipe:—After straining the milk, set it away for about twelve hours, for the cream to "rise." (Milk dishes ought to have good strong handles to lift them by.) After standing as above, set the milk, without disturbing it, on the stove, let it remain there until you observe the coating of cream on the surface assume a wrinkled appearance, but be careful it does not boil, as should this be the case the cream will mix with the milk and cannot again be collected. Now set it away till quite cold and then skim off the cream, mixed with as little milk as possible. When sufficient cream is collected proceed to make it into butter as follows:—Take a wooden bowl, or any suitable vessel, and having first scalded and then rinsed it with cold spring water, place the cream in it. Now let the operator hold his hand in water as hot as can be borne for a few seconds, then plunge it in cold water for about a minute, and at once commence to agitate the cream by a gentle circular motion. In five minutes, or less, the butter will have come, when, of course, it must be washed and salted according to taste; and our correspondent guarantees that no better butter can be made by the best churn ever invented.

To those who keep only one cow, this method of making butter will be found really valuable; while quite as large a quantity of butter is obtained as by the common mode, the skim-milk is much sweeter and palatable. In summer season it will usually be found necessary to bring the cream out of the cellar (say a quarter of an hour before churning) to take the excessive chill off; in winter place the vessel containing the cream over another containing water to warm it; then continue to agitate the cream until the chill is departed.

Before washing the butter separate all the milk you possibly can, as the latter will be found excellent for tea-cakes. Butter made in this manner will be much firmer, and less oilly in hot weather than when made in the ordinary way.

A Young Woman Murdered in Cold Blood.—Miss Melissa Morris, of Marshall county, Va., was murdered on Saturday week, near an orchard where she had been gathering apples. The supposed murderer is a man named Nathaniel Harten. The supposition is that Harten overtook her where she had sat down upon a log to rest, as the handkerchief which contained the apples was found lying on it. That her person had been outraged before she was murdered was also evident. The murder was committed by the side of the public road from which her body was dragged some twenty or thirty yards by the feet to a small run, in which it was found. The murder was committed by heavy blows of a stone or club about the head and breast. The side of her head was broken and one eye knocked out, besides indications of a number of severe blows upon different parts of her person.

The Smoke of Battle.—Some of the Austrians seem to have been particularly struck at seeing Zouaves come into action with their pipes in their mouths. The German's love for a pipe is of the number of calm delights—a thing to be appreciated when "he beside his cottage door is sitting in the sun"—but a pipe in battle! Innocent German! Incomprehensible Zouave!

Singular Coincidence.—On the ship Pomona, wrecked some time since off the coast of Ireland, Mrs. Paxton and her children were lost. She was coming to this country to meet her husband, who was expected from Calcutta. It has been learned that on the very day of his family's loss he died at Calcutta.

☞The country will be glad to learn that the Hon. Charles Sumner at last writes that he has recovered his health and feels "happy."

Editing a Newspaper.

The following article, published in the Erie Observer, speaks our sentiments exactly. We hope our friends in the country will act upon the suggestions and keep us advised of what is going on in their localities:

Everybody thinks it an easy matter to edit a paper. We are frequently told, by those who are imbued with this idea, what a newspaper should be like. One would have it full of the war in Europe; another wants the speeches of this or that great man; a third thinks politics a bore and would have none of it; a fourth would exclude all advertisements, and devote the space to the stories of "Cora-Cobb," and Dr. Robinson, or other writers for the Ledger and the Mercury; a fifth insists that all "love stories" are insufferably stupid; a sixth thinks we do not pay enough attention to local news, and tells us we have never noticed the monster squash or the mammoth cabbage of his neighbor Jenkins—and so on to the end of fault-finder's chapter. Now, we submit that it is impossible to please all these diverse tastes; and as the next best thing, after pleasing everybody, is to please one's self, we try to do that, and trust to luck for the balance. But there is one thing we could do, which would please a vast majority of our readers, and which we would do if we could receive the help necessary. And that is to make our local columns a more perfect transcript of the goings on in the county. But we cannot do that unless we receive the cordial help of all our friends in the various townships. Matters are occurring every day in different parts of the county that possess a local interest all over it, which, if we could be furnished the particulars, we could dress up for our columns, and thus give an interest heretofore unthought of. It is impossible for us to be everywhere—to be here, in our office, attending to our business, and at the same time taking and editorial observation over each township. But, if some friend in each township, would spend half an hour as occasion may demand in writing us a letter, stating concisely what has occurred in his neighborhood, we would then be able each week to spread the same before our readers. We think we hear several who read this article respond, "But, I am not competent to write for the press," &c., &c. We do not ask you to write for the press—we only want you to write to us whenever anything new occurs in your neighborhood—and out of the information thus furnished we will prepare it for the press. If your neighbor Jones, or Smith, or Brown, breaks his leg, disables himself with his mowing machine, or has his barn, or house, or anything else struck with lightning write us the particulars. If Brown's unruly bull chases Smith's children, and scares them "out of a year's growth," write to us, so that we may "point a moral and adorn a tale" on the necessity of keeping vicious animals secure. If some foolish misanthrope, tired of life, shuffle off this mortal coil without the help of a physician or the benefit of clergy, we want to know it, for of such paragraphs are newspapers made. In short, whatever occurs in your neighborhood, give us the particulars and we'll make a note of it—and thus one of the complaints, alluded to in this article, that too little attention is paid to the local affairs of the county, will be removed. Think of this, friends, and next week, or the week after or any time when the "spirit moves" and the occasion demands, as the fish said to the angler, "drop us a line."

Canine Undertaker.

A gentleman living in Hyannis, Mass., has a dog that has been in the habit of playing with a kitten kept about the house, until a great intimacy had grown up between them. The kitten finally died and was buried in the garden. Another kitten was procured, and that died after a little time, and was buried in the garden. A third kitten was obtained, and the acquaintance of the dog soon became familiar. One day the dog was found in the garden with this kitten, and he had dug a large hole and placed the live kitten in it, and was about proceeding to cover it with earth when he was discovered by his owner.

An Egg Cooked in the Sun.—The thermometer ranged as high as 90 deg. in the shade during a part of yesterday. How high it was in the sun we cannot say, but we ate an egg which had been cooked "hard" in the sun. Said egg was placed upon the roof of our office, and remained exposed to the direct rays of the sun about two hours. When we broke it we found it cooked "hard" for our liking—even the yolk being "hard"—nevertheless we ate it for the novelty of the thing.—Norfolk (Va.) Day Book.

Unpleasant Bed-Fellow.—Mr. John Tyson, residing in the southern part of our borough, a few mornings since found that he had been having a very unpleasant bed-fellow through the night. On rising from the bed, on which he had slept with his child by his side, he discovered a house-snake eighteen inches in length, in the bed between where he had lain and the child. He made short work with the reptile, by removing it from its comfortable quarters and "bruising its head," preferring, if he must sleep "as thick as three in a bed," other company than his snakeship. This is the third snake that has been killed in the same house during this year.—Wrightsville (Ia.) Star.

The Sunday Question in St. Louis.—The Mayor of St. Louis refuses to sign the resolutions of Councils for the submission to a vote of the people of the proposition to close the liquor shops and beer gardens of the city on the Sabbath, and the agitation is becoming more and more intense. On one side the Mayor is denounced, and on the other his firmness is extrolled.

News, etc.

The President of the United States, accompanied by Miss Lane, Mrs. Secretary Thompson, Mrs. Wm. M. Browne, M. Thompson, Esq., Judge Bowlin, and Hon. Augustus Schell, arrived at Washington, on Tuesday evening, at six o'clock, from Bedford Springs. Several of the members of the Cabinet were in waiting to receive the President, who appears to be in the enjoyment of excellent health and spirits.

The Franklin Railroad was formally opened from Chambersburg to Greencastle on Tuesday week. Great time,

The Hon. Gerrit Smith, upon reading the Hon. Daniel E. Sickles' late letter in regard to his resumption of his "maternal relations" with his wife, as a Vermont paper styles it, immediately wrote, says the Oswego Times, that gentleman a letter approving the condonation of his wife's offence, and has invited him and his wife to visit Peterboro.

Wm. Coward was tried in Pittsburg, Pa., on Tuesday, for bigamy. He proved that his first wife was a drunkard, and that he therefore married a decent woman, when no cause of action was found, and Coward set at liberty.

The newest thing in Paris, just now, is said to be a bonnet made of fine black hair, embroidered with buttercups in silken straw. The ribbon used for the trimming has a black ground, and the flowers at the side are entirely black with jet centres. The effect of this combination is considered as very original, and it has the advantage of defying the dust.

It is to be hoped that the President's own letter to Mr. McCandless will satisfy the most incredulous of his determination to retire from public affairs at the close of his present term. So long as he is considered a candidate for re-election the motives of his measures will be subjected to misconception and misrepresentation.

The power for good which a clean, frugal, industrious, sensible woman exercises over her husband and children is only exceeded by the power for evil which is exercised by a slovenly, extravagant, idle, foolish woman.

Before a man comes to the conclusion that all the world are knaves, the world has usually anticipated him by forming the same conclusion in regard to himself.

There are two things in which all, or nearly all sects agree—the hatred with which they pursue the errors of others, and the love with which they cling to their own.

There are many who say more than the truth on some occasions, and balance the account with their conscience by saying less than the truth on others.

An American writer says of the present generation, that "the young men seem to be going one way, and the young women the opposite way." That's perfectly right—they will meet all the sooner.

☞A few months ago, it was fashionable for the organs of the Opposition party to regale their readers with articles about the disaffection existing in the Democratic ranks, and to season the feast with congratulatory paragraphs in regard to the perfect harmony in their own organization. We hear no more of their self-congratulations; but, on the contrary, their columns afford incontrovertible evidence that there is no longer any peace in the camp of their mongrel party.

The Office-Seekers' Ticket.

The meeting of a score of Know Nothing Black Republican politicians, in this place, on Monday last, does not deserve the name of Convention, in its usual acceptation. So small and dull a political county gathering never was had here before. Quite a number of the townships were not represented at all. Fully one-half of the members of the so-called Convention have been earnest in the "wild hunt after office" ever since Know Nothingism started. Many of them had "the taste" during the existence of the old Whig party, but discovering that they could not look for more from that quarter, they went into the movement designed to wipe out and supersede it, in order that in the new organization they might fare better. They have been unfortunate thus far, and we are sure they will continue to "enjoy the same blessing," their keen appetites to the contrary notwithstanding.

The ticket, as previously arranged by the Star managers and endorsed by the so-called Convention, is composed of—For Assembly, SAMUEL DURBORAW; Commissioner, JACOB RESSER; Director, CHRISTIAN MUSSELMAN; Auditor, JACOB S. HOLLINGER; Surveyor, JOHN CUNNINGHAM; District Attorney, WM. B. MCCLELLAN; Treasurer, E. G. FAHNESTOCK.

It was for weeks a question among the canvassers, whether Mr. Durboraw should be risked again, they justly fearing that after all his loud professions in favor of reducing the salary of members of the Legislature, the Journal of the session might exhibit a not very consistent course on his part—and to attempt to deny the correctness of that record they have heretofore disporved to be an uphill business. But as he had already paid for his chance in the race, it was decided that it would be unkind not to let him have it. They do not count upon his success with any degree of confidence, however.

The nomination for Commissioner has surprised the public. How it came to pass that Mr. RESSER, who is little more than a temporary resident of the county, and, though a man of means, is not a tax-payer on a dollar's worth of real estate within its borders, should be chosen over the heads of JAMES MARSHALL, of A., DAVID SHRIVER, and WM. S. GITT, cannot be otherwise regarded than as a marvellous performance. The public will not believe that his assumption of the authorship of the celebrated "Resser Letter" was sufficient to bring about his success, rather than that of either of the other gentlemen named. There must have been some other controlling influence at work. A thoughtful friend at our elbow suggests that a particular intimate of Mr. Resser's, who has adopted the profession of Office, and whom, in the absence of anything else, the Commissioners' Clerkship would suit very well,—and, further, whose advice is taken as gospel by the dark lantern managers here—had a leading hand in the game which resulted in the choice made. Stranger plots have been concocted before—and have failed,—as this will.

Considerable outside interest was manifested in regard to the nomination for the Treasurership. Messrs. HENRY RUPP and JOHN WINEBRENNER, it was, sometime before, generally thought would have the field to themselves, and that the choice would necessarily fall upon one or the other of them. The rank and file of the party seemed so to wish. But it soon became evident that one of the leaders in the managerial department desired it for himself, and, of course, there was no gainsaying him—ungenerous and unjust to the other gentlemen as such a course might be. The nomination of Mr. Fahnestock is, under the circumstances, regarded with decided disfavor by many of the members of his party, as it deserves to be.

We may have occasion to allude to this ticket again. It is a wretchedly bungled affair, and with anything like effort on the part of the Democracy, will be beaten by hundreds. If the Opposition cannot bring out "nags" of better "wind and bottom" than these, they had better save themselves much anxiety, labor and expense, by giving up the field in Adams at once.

☞Among the distinguished visitors at Bedford Springs during the past week we noticed the names of Hon. George Darsie, of Pittsburg; Hon. Levi Kline, of Lebanon, Chairman of the People's State Committee; George T. Thorn, Judge Sharswood, Judge Woodnut, William S. Stewart, and John H. Diehl, of Philadelphia; John W. Killinger, of Lebanon; I. E. Hiester, of Lancaster; George M. Lauman, of Reading; Wm. A. C. Lawrence, of Dauphin; James M. Watson, of Washington; Hon. E. McPherson, of this place, and President Buchanan. We hope they will excuse us for mentioning their names in the same article with J. B. and his body-guard!—Gettysburg Star of 29th ult.

☞No one but "a fool or a knave" could have written the above paragraph. We publish it in order to show the depth of meanness to which the Star can descend when dealing with a political opponent. Just think of it! Begging pardon of George M. Lauman, for instance, or "Hon. E. McPherson," if you please, for "mentioning their names in the same article with" that of the honored and venerable Statesman who fills the Chief Magistracy of this great Republic! Could petty malignity go further! His name and fame will remain bright upon the pages of our country's history, whilst most, if not all, of those at whose hands the Star asks to be "excused," shall have passed into the deepest obscurity, "unhonored and unsung."

It is gratifying to know that decent men of all parties denounce the Star's article in unmeasured terms. It would likewise be gratifying to know who wrote it.

☞The Know Nothings and Black Republicans of Franklin county nominated their ticket on Tuesday, as follows: Senator, A. K. McClure; Assembly, James R. Brewster; Sheriff, Wm. McGrath; Treasurer, John Stouffer; District Attorney, George Eyster; Commissioner, J. S. Good; Director, David Spencer; Auditor, John Downey; Surveyor, John B. Kauffman; Coroner, Jas. S. King.

☞A. K. McClure, of Chambersburg, who has determined to be the Know Nothing and Black Republican nominee for Senator in this district, has sued the editors and proprietors of the Valley Spirit for libel, their alleged offence being the publication of an article in that paper, charging him with corrupt acts whilst in the Legislature. Prosecutors rarely make anything by such attempts at intimidation, and we much mistake the spirit of the Spirit if the modest Colonel profits any by this investment.

☞The potato rot prevails extensively in Rhode Island. Some farmers have ploughed up whole fields of potatoes for the purpose of replanting.

Disgusted with his Party.

Stephen F. J. Trabue was an Opposition candidate for Congress in the eighth district of Kentucky, and in that capacity made an electioneering tour through the counties composing it. After thus associating with his political friends, and ascertaining their opinions and feelings, he withdrew from the contest in disgust, and joined the Democrats.—In a letter to the voters of the district, he says:

"This opposition party I regard as but a faction, having no measure of public policy—no motive or feeling to actuate them other than hate to Democracy and hope for office—and so I have charged throughout the district—a faction which, if successful, will be powerless for good, and only powerful for evil.—Regarding the Democratic party as the only truly national party of the country, and the only one capable of fighting successfully the many factions of the day, and the black republican party particularly, I believe it to be the duty of all true constitutional national men, in the present and approching crisis of 1860, to sustain that party. Hence to it my help and support shall accordingly be given. In my canvass throughout the district I endeavored to present my views fully, and which I regard as truly national, involving the best interests of the people of the whole country, as well the naturalized citizen as the native born; and when I find those so recently the loudest in their protestations of adherence to American principles now the most willing to wholly and shamefully abandon them, I resolved to retire from the canvass, leaving those true men who had determined to support me to act as they may deem best for the good of their country."

Estimates and Receipts.

When Secretary Cobb submitted his estimate to Congress of the amount of revenue to be derived from the different sources, he was ridiculed most unsparingly. The country was suffering from the effects of the commercial revulsion; and it was argued in Opposition to the Secretary, that it was not possible for trade to revive in time to realize his anticipations. Much to the annoyance of the prophets of evil, the revenue has increased to an extent exceeding the estimates of Mr. Cobb. Upon this subject the Constitution has the following:

We give below a statement of the receipts into the treasury from all sources for the three last quarters of the fiscal year just ended.—We also append the amount which was estimated for by the Secretary of the Treasury in his annual report to Congress at its last session. When we take into consideration that the estimates were necessarily based upon the commercial condition of the country, just emerging from a wide-spread and disastrous paralysis, and the utter impossibility to foresee when, to what extent, and how rapidly a healthy action would ensue, it presents the most astonishing concurrence between the actual receipts and the estimates upon record. It also exhibits another evidence of the thorough knowledge which the able Secretary of the Treasury possesses in all matters pertaining to the finances—above all others the most important and complicated subject belonging to human government.

Statement of the receipts into the treasury for the last three quarters of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1859—from customs, lands, and miscellaneous sources.

Quarter ending—Dec. 31, 1858	$ 9,762 619 81
Quarter ending—March 31, 1859	10,779 519 55
Quarter ending—June 30, 1859	15,038,242 73
Aggregate	$35,580,382 09

Amount estimated by the Secretary of the Treasury in his report to Congress at its last session, from the same sources, as indicated above, $38,500,000.

A Fact from History.

The present National Administration has boldly proclaimed the doctrine that when a naturalized citizen visits his native country he goes in the character of an American citizen, and as no other. In order to entitle his original government to punish him for an offence, this must have been committed whilst he was a subject and owed allegiance to that government. The offence must have been complete before his expatriation. This has always been the doctrine maintained by Mr. BUCHANAN. When he was Secretary of State under President POLK, (remarks the York Gazette,) two gentlemen, Messrs. Bergen and Ryan, Irishmen by birth, but naturalized citizens of the United States, were arrested while on a visit to England, for having expressed themselves in this country as warmly sympathizing with the cause of Ireland. This outrageous procedure immediately received the attention of Mr. Buchanan, and in a letter of instructions on the subject to Mr. Bancroft, then our Minister to England, Mr. Buchanan said:—

"Whenever the occasion may require it, you will resist the British doctrine of perpetual allegiance, and maintain the American principle that British native born subjects, after they have been naturalized under our laws, are to all intents and purposes, as much American citizens and entitled to the same degree of protection, as though they had been born in the United States."

Mr. Bancroft, in accordance with these instructions, addressed a letter to Lord Palmerston, denying the right of the British government, under the circumstances, to arrest Messrs. Bergen and Ryan, and the effect of this decided action on the part of our government was the liberation of the two gentlemen from custody.

The Way Things Look.

A friend in a neighboring county, writing to us on business, inquires, in a postscript, "how things politically look in York county."

In answer we will say, that "things" are beginning to work, and look in this region, very much as they always do, when the Opposition are about to get an "all-fired thrashing." To those who expect that a want of organization, or "family jars," will prevent us from wheeling the whole Democratic army into line this fall, we frankly extend the Milesian caution, that "they may expect to be disappointed!"—York Gazette.

☞The President will remain in Cumberland to-night, and will proceed to Bedford to-morrow. He was provided with a special car by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.—Argus.

Of course a Democratic President cannot travel in the same car with ordinary people.—Daily News.

Of course he could and would travel with what the News calls "common people," if it were not for the fact that the officers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company are gentlemen, and respect and honor the highest officer of a great country. "Common people," and all other people, except those who have nothing but the marrow of selfishness in their bones, are disposed to respect the officers of our free country. President Buchanan is a Democrat, and has a thousand times more love for the people—the "common people"—than the Daily News and the Know Nothing party, which would make slaves of foreigners, and refuse liberty to a class of citizens who worship God according to the dictates of their consciences.—Argus.

☞It is remarked, as an evidence of the yet unsettled state of Italy, that since the Spanish war of succession (1701) Austria has lost and regained Lombardy no fewer than twelve times.

Death of the Hon. Richard Rush.

The Washington Constitution of Saturday evening announces the death of the Hon. Richard Rush, at Philadelphia, on Saturday morning, at an advanced age. Mr. Rush was the son of Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Rush was appointed Attorney General by President Madison in 1814, upon the resignation of the Hon. William Pinkney, of Maryland. In 1817 he was appointed minister to England by President Monroe, and he afterwards published a volume of his "Recollections at the Court of St. James." In 1825 he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by John Quincy Adams, and made an elaborate report in favor of a protective tariff. He was afterwards nominated as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the same ticket with Mr. Adams, who was defeated for the Presidency by General Jackson; was afterwards identified with Democratic politics, but we believe never again entered public life.

Mr. Rush married the daughter of Dr. Murry, of Annapolis, and a sister of James Murry, Esq., of Baltimore, through whom he was connected with several prominent families of Maryland.

State Elections.

Elections were held in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and and several other States, last week, of which we give the results as far as received.

Kentucky.—Magoffin, Dem., is elected Governor by from 5,000 to 7,000 majority. The present Governor is Morehead, Know Nothing. The Democrats also elect seven, and probably eight, of the ten members of Congress, with a majority in the Legislature, which will secure a Democratic United States Senator, in the place of J. J. Crittenden, Opposition.

P. S.—The Cincinnati Enquirer has returns for Governor in forty counties of Kentucky, which show a Democratic gain of near 2,000 on the last Presidential election, when Buchanan carried the State by a majority of 7,200.

Alabama.—A. B. Moore, Dem., is re-elected Governor by an immense majority, and the Democrats have elected ALL the Congressmen.

Missouri.—The Democrats have elected a larger number than usual of the officers in St. Louis, but the balance of the State has not been heard from.

No definite returns from Tennessee.

Giving Them Notice.—The editor of the Luzerne Union, talks square up to the Oppositionists and gives them to understand that this fall, in that county, they will "have to encounter the Democratic hosts united, confident and determined, marshalled under the lead of true, earnest, popular and competent candidates—not the Democratic party as last fall, broken and dismayed—not the Democratic party as in '54, betrayed by traitors and conquered by fraud," and assures them that the Opposition cannot "nominate a candidate who will come within 800 votes of an election."

The Right Way to Talk.—The Somerset Democrat, a paper that was decidedly anti-Lecompton, as long as that question was a living issue, comes up boldly, in a recent number, to the support of the Democratic party and its principles. It says:—"The Democracy of this county are firmly united on all the leading principles of the party. The day for divisions on minor questions has gone by. Forneyism can no more affect the honest men of the party than Black Republicanism or Know Nothingism. Our Union is too valuable, our principles too highly cherished and the people's good too important to be thrown away for a mess of Opposition pottage."

☞One of the hardest contests that has ever been fought in Ohio will take place this fall. Both the contestants are already in the field. The Democrats are arrayed on the side of order, peace, the Union, our free institutions, and the Constitution of the United States, against the Abolitionist and Know Nothing foes who would dismember the confederacy, destroy our freedom, plot against our peace, and under the miserable plea of political expediency bring the people into collision with the supreme authorities of the general Government.

☞A correspondent of the Washington Constitution wrote, two weeks ago, as follows from Bedford:

"President Buchanan is still here, and is visited by large numbers of his old Pennsylvania friends and neighbors. I noticed quite a delegation of Bedford county farmers wending their way to his rooms on Saturday last. Mr. Buchanan receives these sons of toil as becomes a Democratic President, and they seem to appreciate fully his genial and warm-hearted bearing. Some of them, I am told, came thirty miles to take the Old Chief by the hand. Demagogues may slander and revile—enemies may lay their shares for his feet—false friends may go on in the work of treason; but the people—the great popular heart of the Union—are with the Administration of James Buchanan."

☞The Star "takes pleasure in recommending" Forney's Press "to all honest Democrats!" "Honest Democrats" know that the Press is fully in the interests of the Black Republicans,—and they know, too, that the Star would recommend nothing Democratic. Forney is against the Democratic State Ticket, and is in favor of that of the Opposition. "Honest Democrats" will thus be able to account for the Star's "recommendation" of this "bird of" its own "feather."

☞The late news from Europe strikingly illustrates the uncertainty of popularity.—A few weeks ago the Emperor Napoleon was almost worshipped by the Italian people. He entered cities in triumph, and the populace grew wild in their enthusiasm to do him honor. Now he is detested by the same people, and his portraits cannot be exposed in shop windows without causing violence. Such is the reward his treachery and baseness are receiving.—Exchange.

☞The prompt refusal of Mr. Buchanan to let his name be connected in any way with the nomination at Charleston, has taken the wind out of the sails of all those piratical crafts who seized upon the idea conveyed by the article in the Pittsburg Post, as a pretext to abuse him. Mr. Buchanan to-day stands, in the purity of his course and the integrity of his actions, so high that the slush thrown at him by Forney & Co., comes far short of its mark, and falling back upon those who hurl it, they are bespattered all over with their own filth.

Shameful.—The Catholic Church at Augusta, Ga., was set on fire on Tuesday week, and a valuable painting of the Crucifixion burnt.

Local Affairs.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The Democratic County Convention, to-day, placed in nomination the following excellent ticket:

State Senator,
HENRY J. MYERS, of Straban.
(Subject to the decision of the District Conference.)
Assembly,
FREDERICK DIEHL, of Franklin.
Commissioner,
JAMES H. MARSHALL, of Hamiltonban.
Director of the Poor,
JOSEPH J. KUHN, of Reading.
Auditor,
AMOS LEFEVER, of Union.
County Treasurer,
WAYBRIGHT ZIEGLER, of Gettysburg.
District Attorney,
J. C. NEELY, of Gettysburg.
Surveyor,
JOHN G. BRINKERHOFF, of Straban.

Representative Delegate to State Convention—Hon. J. B. DANNER.

Installation of Pastor.

The installation of Rev. T. B. BUCHER as Pastor of the Gettysburg charge of the German Reformed Church, will take place, in the Church here, on Saturday next, the 13th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Revs. KREMER, MILLER, HOFFHEINS, SECHLER, (and probably others,) are expected to be present and participate in the exercises of the occasion. A special meeting of Classis will be held the evening previous.

Preaching may be expected in the Church in this place on Sabbath morning following, and at Mark's Church in the afternoon.

In New Quarters.

The County Commissioners removed into their room in the new Court House on Monday, and the Register and Clerk of the Courts followed suit on Tuesday. The Prothonotary's vault will be fully shelved in a day or two, when that officer will also change quarters. The rooms removed into are all spacious and airy, with any quantity of light, and are in every respect admirably adapted for the purposes intended, as experience will demonstrate.

—In passing down Middle street, on Thursday, we noticed that Mr. POWERS was engaged with a force of workmen in putting up a flight of very solid granite steps in the rear of the building. The granite work in front will also be up in a few days.

Fire!

At about 3 o'clock on Friday morning last, our citizens were startled by the cry of "Fire!" "Fire!" Flames were seen issuing from the stable of Mr. ABNER M. TOWNSLEY, in Franklin street, near High, and before they could be subdued, the building and its contents, including a horse, set of harness, two or three tons of hay, lumber, and other articles, were consumed. A stack of hay adjoining was partly burned. There was no insurance on the property, and the loss will fall severely upon Mr. T. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Pic Nic.

The Sabbath School of the Bethlehem Church (Union) at Bendersville will have a Pic Nic in some grove convenient to that town, on Saturday, the 13th inst. A general invitation is extended to the public, and an interesting time may be expected. A Brass Band from Gettysburg will probably be present.

A Pic Nic will come off, in Snyder's grove, on the Conowago, on Saturday, the 27th inst. The committee will spare no effort to make it a "tip-top" affair.

Degrees Conferred.

The honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon Prof. Jacobs, of this place, at the late Commencement of Wittenburg College.

At the late Commencement of Dickinson College, at Carlisle, the degree of A. M. was conferred upon A. H. DILL, Esq., late of this place. Mr. D. left on Wednesday last, for Tennessee, in which State he intends to reside permanently.

Destruction of a Barn.

On Tuesday afternoon the log barn of Mr. Franklin G. Emmert, about two and a half miles from town, was struck by lightning and set on fire. The conflagration was so rapid that before effective assistance could be summoned the building and its contents were consumed. There was no insurance upon either, and the loss is estimated at one thousand dollars.—Hanover Spectator.

Railroad Dividend.

The President and Directors of the Hanover Branch Rail Road Company have declared a dividend of one dollar per share on the capital stock, payable on and after the 10th inst.

"Circulate the Documents!"

The Compiler will be furnished for the campaign at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, paid in advance. The county canvass promises to be an interesting one, and we trust that hundreds who do not take a County Paper will avail themselves of this advantage to get The Compiler at an unprecedentedly low price. The Know Nothing Black Republican leaders and managers will, no doubt, resort to their usual game of falsehood and deception in order to carry their point, but we expect to be after them, with "a sharp stick," and to be able to expose their attempted cheats. Circulate The Compiler.

☞It is not a pleasant task for us to ask Patrons for money, but it must be done.—We want and must have money by the August Court, and hope our friends will come prepared to fork over. We have hundreds upon hundreds of dollars due and owing to us in different amounts, and we would respectfully and kindly ask those indebted to pay up at once!

Subscribers at a distance can remit by mail, in registered letters, at our risk.

☞The annual Commencement of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, was held on the 27th of July, in Fulton Hall, Lancaster city. The graduating class numbered twenty-one, being greater than on any preceding occasion since the union of Franklin and Marshall College. Among the list of graduates we notice the name of Mr. JACOB KEUX, of Oxford.

☞This neighborhood was visited by refreshing rains on Tuesday and Friday afternoons last, which the growing corn much needed.

☞The contribution of *—"Pen-droppings for The Compiler," continued—is welcome, and will appear in our next. Hope to hear from him again.

Sheriff's Sales.

Sheriff LIGHTNER sold the Foundry of Border & Ross, in East Berlin, on Friday last, for $1,450—David Border purchaser.

His sales on Saturday were:

Stevens. 434 acres, for $200, to same. 411 acres, for $175, to same. 412 acres, for $110, to Jacob Mussolman. 445 acres, for $105, to T. Stevens. 466 acres, for $55, to Jacob Musselman. 450 acres, for $5, to T. Stevens.

Property of John Adair: 34 acres, in Butler township, for $1,000, to Maria Slothour. House and lot in Gettysburg, for $800, to John Brown. Half an acre, for $35, to John Houck.

Beautiful.

We publish the following from the Erie (Pa.) Observer:

"Talk about Piccolomini, Strackosch, and other fashionable singers; there is not a mother's son or daughter in our goodly city, or in the country either, that cannot attend a better concert, without money and without price,' every day of their lives, if they have a mind to. All they have to do is to get up at four in the morning, throw up their window, if it is not already up, which it ought to be, and let in the voice of the birds. Listen! there is a robin—can Piccolomini beat that? there goes an Oriole, Jenny Lind is nowhere; hear that Blue-bird, how it stretches its little throat, and tries to lift its voice above the rest of the feathered band! And now they are in chorus, Robin, Oriole, Blue-bird, Catbird, even to the little Wren; did it ever produce anything equal to it?—did mortal voice ever sing His praise half as effectively? We doubt it! And yet how few enjoy it—simply because it costs nothing, and is not the fashion."

And——because the bird "concert" comes off a leetle too early in the day! Say, friend SLOAN, couldn't the hour be changed? Unless it is, we must continue to refuse your "show" the benefit of our countenance.

Letter from Iowa.

A letter from a gentleman residing in Iowa to a friend in this place, dated July 29th, says:

I see by the newspapers, that Pennsylvania is a little ahead of Iowa in cutting her wheat, &c. Our farmers are all busy, and will finish this week. I have fifty acres of very good wheat, and forty-five acres as good appearance for corn as I ever seen—seven acres have been in good roasting ears for the last two weeks.

Iowa has never been blessed with as good a crop before. Everything in abundance. Grain of all kinds, good in quality and great in quantity. Potatoes and vegetables very plenty. Our whole country has put on a very different countenance since this time last year. Farmers have their heads up again, hoping by their present crop to come up square with the world again.

The Compiler comes to me with more news than a weekly letter. I feel posted with it. I am gratified to see an account nearly every week of some improvement in Gettysburg. I am glad, too, that the Railroad Company take proper pride in their road. I should like to take a ride behind the new Locomotive. If they continue to keep good stock on the road, they may expect to be patronized in a way that will pay expenses and a neat per centage beside.

☞The Gettysburg Railroad Company contemplates running an Excursion Train to the Shrewsbury Camp Meeting on Sunday week, providing sufficient encouragement can be had. The train would leave this in the morning and return in the evening—round trip fare $1 40. Persons wishing to go will please leave their names with the ticket agent during the present week.

☞A party of forty or fifty persons, from Marsh and Rock creeks, had a delightful excursion over the Railroad to Hanover and back on Saturday last.

☞Mr. HENRY HOFFMAN, of East Berlin, has purchased Black's tavern stand, in Emmitsburg—price $2,300.

☞Mr. BANKARD is about commencing the erection of a three-story brick building on the corner of Washington and High streets, and a two-story on the rear of the lot, fronting on High. Improvement in that quarter of the town is rapidly on the increase.

The Western Maryland Railroad.—The company purpose to celebrate the opening of this road as far as Owen's Mills, on Thursday next, by a trip over the road with a number of invited guests, and a dinner at Green Springs, in Shere's best style. This road will soon place us in a direct connection with Westminster, and, eventually, with Hagerstown. The route has been prepared for the rails to Union Bridge, the iron bought and paid for, and all that is now needed is the means to lay the rails and prepare the line for operation.—Sun.

☞The Cincinnati papers contain dispatches from various sections of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, giving accounts of fine rains in those localities on Sunday and Monday. In some places it rained very heavily for several hours, and in others the shower was light.

Fears for the Safety of Kossuth.—A letter received in New York by the Ocean Queen, dated London, 19th, says that nothing had been heard there from Kossuth for several days, and it was feared that he had been treacherously dealt with.

☞At the Black Republican State Convention of Minnesota the names of two hundred and fifty candidates were presented for the seven offices which were to be filled at the next election. There are a great many "patriots" in the Republican camp.

Some Gal.—Says a country girl, describing her country home, "We raise our own fruit and vegetables, make our own pork, and lay our own eggs." That gal would make a capital wife for a poor man, especially in this burg, where eggs are scarce and dear.

☞A telegraphic despatch says that the Leavenworth Times has letters from the Pike's Peak gold region, stating that the mines continue to yield well, and that immense improvements are in contemplation to facilitate the business of mining. If Pike's Peak is a humbug, it is well managed, and those interested in it are governed by the principle that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth."

☞The excess of the present wheat crop in the United States over the greatest ever known before, is set down at 25,000,000 bushels.

Letter from the President Declining a Renomination.

PITTSBURG, July 30.—The following letter, from the President, was received this morning, by Hon. Wilson McCandless:

BEDFORD SPRINGS, 25th July, 1859.

MY DEAR SIR: I have received your kind note of the 19th inst., with the leader from the Post.

Whilst I appreciate, as it deserves, the ability and friendship displayed in the editorial, I yet regret that it has been published.—My determination, not, under any circumstances, to become a candidate for re-election, is final and conclusive. My best judgment and strong inclination unite in favor of this course. To cast doubts upon my predetermined purpose is calculated to impair my influence, in carrying important measures, and afford a pretext for saying that they have been dictated by the desire to be renominated.

With the kindest regards, &c.,

Respectfully, your friend,
JAMES BUCHANAN.

Primary Election at Baltimore.—Rowdyism and Riot.—BALTIMORE, Aug. 2.—The Ward primary elections of the American party are being held to-night in this city. There has been a great deal of rowdyism at the polls, and the boxes of the 20th Ward have been smashed.

The struggle is between the rowdy and the respectable portion of the party, in selecting delegates to the Nominating Convention. The indications are that the rowdies will be successful.

A man named Sullivan was arrested in the Sixth Ward, while in the act of firing off a large horse pistol loaded with slugs. Thomas Rowe was shot in the knee and William Thompson in the leg. One of them is considered mortally wounded.

There are rumors of other riotous proceedings.

Sagacity of a Dog.—At a fire recently in Philadelphia, says the Daily News, one of the workmen, named Peter Nestor, after eating his dinner laid himself down on a bench to take a nap. He fell asleep, and while the fire was increasing and closing around him, a bull dog, no doubt perceiving the danger, ran into the burning shop, and catching the sleeping man by his clothing, awakened him in time to save his life. The bench on which the man was sleeping was in flames at one end when he was awakened by the interference of the dog.

Sensation in Religious Circles.—The New York Evening Post announces that Rev. Dr. Bellows had proposed in an address before the united clergymen of the Unitarian Church, the establishment of a new Catholic Church, differing from the Church of Rome by the omission of what may be deemed certain absolute, erroneous or needless doctrines, but preserving the attractive features, the ritual, the imaginative symbols, and the sacred festivals which help to give the Roman Catholic Church its popular and universal character. The new sect is to be designated the "Broad Church."

☞It has been truly remarked that Sardinia, by accepting Lombardy without the fortresses necessary to defend it, has made herself the vassal of France, and that Italy has gained nothing; while the Emperor Napoleon returns to Paris nominally a conqueror, but, in reality, a baffled and dishonored man.

Old Folks' Quilting.—An old folks' quilting took place at Smith Sutton, Mass., a few days since. The "quilting" was done at the house of widow Joshua Lackey, and was attended by sixteen ladies, whose united ages amount to ten hundred and fifty four years. The oldest, Mrs. Joshua Hicks, is 82 years of age, and the youngest, Mrs. Amos Burdon, is 56. There are upwards of 80; four between 70 and 80; six between 60 and 70; three between 50 and 60. They quilted a quilt of nearly two thousand pieces, the largest less than four inches square, put together by Mrs. Lackey, who is upwards of 80 years of age.

Gaming at the Springs.—The editor of the Warrenton Whig, writing from the Red Sweet (Va.) Springs, says:

A few days ago, a couple of Southern gentlemen here, rich planters from Red river, played seven games of old sledge for $5,000 a game, and the winner took every game. $35,000 was lost and the money paid, I hear, in a check on the Bank of Louisiana. I could give the names, but forbear.

Steam on Common Roads.—The running of steam engines on common roads, though new to this country, has been tested in England. There is an engine running daily from Manchester to a colliery, eight miles distant. The road is undulating, and has several sharp curves, yet the engine draws five four-wheeled wagons, containing thirty tons weight.

Dreadful Railroad Accident—Thirteen Lives Lost.—Albany, August 3.—An accident occurred on the Northern Railroad, near Shaghticoke, last night, of a very serious character. The down train due at Albany at 7.25, whilst passing the bridge which spans the Tannanuck, was precipitated into the creek below, a distance of twenty-five feet, falling in from six to eight feet of water. Over thirteen persons are reported killed.

☞Blondin's star is to be outshone by that of one W. T. Aymar, who proposes, we are told, if Mr. Porter will allow scaffolding to be erected on Goat Island, to turn a somersault down into the water at the foot of the island, a depth of one hundred and seventy feet from where he springs. This will assuredly be surpassing the rope walker, and beating him at a bound.

☞Hon. Horace Mann, formerly a member of Congress from Massachusetts, but recently a Professor in Antioch College, Ohio, died on last Tuesday afternoon. Professor Mann was well known by his writings and speeches, and was among the zealous "reformers" of the present age.

The Glorious Harvest.—The Lancaster papers are expressing great joy at the glorious crops that have been gathered in that county. The harvest is said to be the greatest ever secured there. The Union estimates that the wheat crop has yielded not less than four millions of bushels—an enormous yield, truly.

☞Legal notice has been given that application will be made to the Court of Quarter Sessions of a charter for a "Mutual Fire Insurance Co. in the Borough of Hanover."

☞The India Rubber Case of Horace H. Lay, Alexander Hay, and others, was decided in the U. S. Circuit Court, in Baltimore, a few weeks since, in favor of those gentlemen. By this decision, our townsman, Mr. Hay, will be much benefitted pecuniarily.—York Pennsylvanian.

☞Forney has written, it is said, to several personal friends in Washington, asking their advice as to whether he had not better seek the Opposition nomination for Clerk of the House of Representatives, and that one of them wrote in reply, "he saw nothing wrong in such a movement, as he (Forney) was now part and parcel of the Republican party, and his paper, the Press, the ablest Republican journal in the country."

The Peace Conference.

NEW YORK, August 3.—The steamer Persia arrived here this morning from Liverpool, with dates to the 23d ult., two days later than previous advices.

Breadstuffs were firm. Wheat generally closed with an advancing tendency, all qualities had slightly advanced

The Peace Conference.—The Conference to be held at Zurich between France and Austria was expected to meet in about a week. It was thought that Sardinia would not be represented.

The general feeling of discontent with the terms of peace continued unabated, and Napoleon's explanations were not reassuring.

No one had been named as the representative of Sardinia at the Zurich Conference, and it was therefore expected that none will be present, but that Sardinia, if she pleases, will acquiesce in the Austro-French arrangement in a separate article. It was supposed that a European Congress would be called after the conclusion of the Zurich negotiations.

It is affirmed that Sardinia signed nothing but an armistice, and is consequently in a nominal state of war with Austria.

Italy.—Italy continued to exhibit discontent with the terms of peace.

Tuscany showed strong hostility to the return of the Grand Duke. The Provisional Government had directed a popular vote to be taken on the subject.

England.—The foreign policy of England had been debated in the House of Commons. D'Israeli opposed all interference in the Peace Congress. Lords Palmerston and Russell thought that England might with propriety take part, but nothing was determined upon.

Lord Elgin gave notice of a resolution against any inference by England in the Italian question.

Mr. Gladstone's proposed increase of the income tax was agreed to.

France.—The Emperor Napoleon had received the congratulations of the Diplomatic Corps. The Papal Nuncio was spokesman for the Ambassadors on the occasion. The Emperor in reply said that Europe was so unjust to him at the commencement of the war that he was happy to conclude peace as soon as the honor and interests of France were satisfied. As a proof of this moderation he said he trusted the peace would be enduring.

Arrest of William Coulson, the Murderer of Jonathan R. Chronister—Attempted Rescue—Arrest of the Ringleader.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Capt. Joseph Mitchell, of the Central station, received such information that he was induced to visit a house on Dolphin street, near Pennsylvania avenue, where it was thought Coulson was secreted. The Captain, with Lieut. Wright, Sergeant McComas, officers G. W. Robinson and Williams, repaired to the house indicated. Capt. Mitchell and Lieut. Wright took possession of the front of the house, while the remaining officers guarded the rear. Upon arriving in front of the house the Captain demanded admission, which was refused by the lady of the house, Mrs Taylor, on the plea that her husband had previously warned her against opening the door to any police officer as they wanted to get the furniture for a debt. The officers now threatened to burst open the door if it was not unlocked. Mrs. Taylor then opened the door, and just as the officers entered the front room Coulson rushed out of a rear door into the yard, where he was arrested.

By this time a great crowd had collected in the neighborhood, and from the remarks and movements of several young men, a rescue was feared, and when on North street, near Fayette, Richard Hinton, a rowdy of considerable notoriety, made a rush, followed by over one hundred persons, towards the officers having Coulson in charge. After a little excitement, during which Hinton was severely handled, he was arrested and committed to jail by Justice McAllister. Coulson made no attempt to escape, and stated that he never intended to leave the city. Upon the subject of the crime with which he is charged he would not speak. He appeared downcast and keenly felt the awful position in which he had placed himself. Upon arriving at the jail gate, he appeared to falter, and hesitated as to entering that home from which probably he will never leave alive. His brother George, when informed of the arrest, appeared confounded, and remained silent for several minutes.—Baltimore Clipper of Thursday

Raised from the Dead.

A Curious Case.—A curious case occurred last week at Rome, this county. Mrs Peters, wife of a German of that name, after a short illness, was supposed to have died. Her husband made immediate arrangements for her funeral, having procured a coffin in this city. On placing her body in the coffin a general perspiration was observed throughout the skin, which was reported to the husband, with the suggestion that the burial be deferred in the hope of reanimation. To this the husband objected, and had her interred the same day, (Saturday.) After the burial services were over some relatives of the supposed deceased, who reside in this city, arrived at Rome to attend the funeral, which had already taken place, and hearing of the circumstances caused the body, which then had been four hours in the grave, to be disinterred, when to their surprise and joy, they found signs of life still remaining. Restoratives being administered, Mrs. Peters gradually recovered, was taken by her friends to this city and is now well. We are informed that she refuses to again live with her husband. The circumstances connected with the affair are strange indeed, and should undergo investigation.—Columbus (Ohio) Fact.

☞A British officer writing from Teheran, Persia, in the London Times, remarks — 'A Cathartic Pill manufactured by 'an American Chemist' (Dr. J. C. Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.) has cured the Shah of a Liver Complaint that threatened his life. This simple fact, as might be expected, renders the Americans immensely popular here, while we English are overlooked. Doubtless our own scholars made the discoveries which he employs, and thus it is in everything, we do the labor, then the mousing Americans put their mark on it and take the reward. Doc. Ayer is idolized by the Court and its retainers here, which will doubtless be reflected to him on a gold snuff box, or diamond hilted sword, while not the name even of Davy, Christoson or Brodie—the great lights by which he shines, is known."—New York Sunday Paper.

Husband, Wife and Child Killed Simultaneously.—A letter from Utica, Miss., to the Petersburg Express, dated July 19th, says: —Mr. William L. Fairchild, (a most estimable citizen in all the relations of life,) was returning from the house of a neighbor to his own residence in a buggy, accompanied by his accomplished young wife and an only child, day before yesterday, and when within one mile of home a large tree fell across the road and killed them all. The tree fell so as to strike the head of each one, and mash them in such a terrible manner as to cause the brain of each to escape from the skull. Their bodies were also dreadfully mangled. It may be mentioned as a remarkable fact, that a little negro boy, who occupied a position in the seat of the buggy, escaped with only a few scratches.

The Naturalization Question.—The Lexington (Ky.) Statesman referring to the protection afforded by our government to naturalized citizens visiting Europe, says:

Simon Straus, of this city, left the domains of Austria before he had rendered the military service imposed by the laws of that government on every citizen. He came to the United States, was naturalized, and a few months ago returned to Austria. He was there summoned to appear, on three days' notice, for military service. He immediately reported himself to the United States consul, who received him as an American citizen, and did protect him as such. Mr. Straus had no more trouble. He is now in Lexington and can substantiate the truth of this statement.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418, Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa. Read what is said of them:

Scott, Cortland co., N. Y., March 21, 1857.

Dr. C. M. Jackson. Dear Sir:—In behalf of the afflicted, I pen a few lines to you. I have suffered and I stored myself, and know how to pity those in a like condition. Until I commenced taking your Bitters last summer, I was not able to do anything, or even to sit up any considerable length of time. Before I had taken the first bottle I felt like a new man and now after having continued the use of them a short time in the worst ... I am able to labor hard every day. To say the least, I think I have received more benefit from the Bitters than all other medicines I have taken. I have not only used your Bitters myself, but have given bottles and parts of bottles to those complaining of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and in every case they tell me they have taken no medicine so beneficial as the bitters.

Respectfully yours,

New Agricultural Settlement.

TO ALL WANTING FARMS, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate, 25 miles southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, New Jersey.—An old estate, consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil, has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser.—A population of some fifteen hundred, from various parts of the middle States and New England, have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre; the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer.—Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vinyards and peach orchards planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET, as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Produce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours' ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before.—The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, and such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a free ticket for six months, and a half-price ticket for three years.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.—In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or founderies for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumberance when money is paid. Route to the land: leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic county, New Jersey, or S. B. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth street, Philadelphia. Maps and Information cheerfully furnished.

DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS.

CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE & LIVER PILLS.—We beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to DR. CHAS. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS. We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz: The VERMIFUGE, for expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms. The LIVER PILLS, for the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of FEVER AND AGUE, preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are unrivaled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the Proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS, PITTSBURG, PA., to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last 20 years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest materials, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

GO to Tipton's—go to Tipton's—
Go to Tipton's in the corner—
In the corner in the Diamond—
In the Diamond near McClellan's,
If you want your hair dressed finely—
If you want your face shaved smoothly,
Bachelors who never knew it—
Tip's the fellow that can do it—
Do it in the latest fashion—
Do it quick and do it neatly,
And improve your fine looks greatly,
Make you look so young and sprightly,
Make you feel more young and brightly,
Make you feel like going nightly
To call upon some pretty damsel
Who before would not look at you,
At you as you passed her daily,
Daily on the public street.
And young men who wear moustaches,
Who want some one to sew patches—
Patches where your breeches tear—
Tip's the boy to make up matches—
Matches with some lady fair.
Then repair to Tipton's shop,

The Sickles' Trial

FOR THE SHOOTING OF KEY, and the Execution of Four Murderers in Baltimore, has created the greatest excitement. The papers are filled with details of these shocking affairs. The people talk about it on the streets and in their houses, and look upon these tragedies as being unparalleled in history. So it is with PICKING'S CLOTHING—having just opened the largest and most complete, as well as the cheapest and best assortment of READY-MADE CLOTHING, of every description and style, ever offered in this place, the people talk about it on the highways and in their houses, urging each other to go at once to Picking's and purchase a new suit of clothes. But joking aside, we assure the public in all candor that our stock cannot be surpassed—consisting in part of Black Cloth Coats, Cassimere Frock and Sack Coats, Tweed and Linen Coats, and in fact every kind that the market can produce. Vests of every description. Pants to suit all classes and conditions. Shirts, Collars, Stockings, Gloves, Suspenders, &c., &c. Also, Carpet Bags, Umbrellas, Trunks, Accordeons, Violins, in short everything usually found in his line. Thankful for past favors, he solicits a continuance of the same. Call and examine our stock—no trouble to show goods. Remember the place, in Chambersburg street, opposite the Lutheran church.
